SIT-DOWNERS LEAVE TIRE PLANT

Willard Hunter, Sought By Posse, Found

Again Lost to Young Mother

Florence Ann Richter, 30-months-old, stares coyly at the photographer unaware she is the center of litigation. Her unmarried mother, Della Staszkie, 21, White Cloud, Mich., housemaid, is a loser in another court move which saw Mr. and Mrs. Paul Richter, foster parents of the child, ask that their adoption papers be reviewed, and the child be granted them permanently.

POLICE LEARN YOUTH ON TRIP WITH COUSIN

Boy, 19, Believed Victim of Desolate Marshes, Located In Wood County.

FEARED HE FELL IN PITS

200 Comb 5,000-Acre Wasteland Before Search Is Called Off.

The object of a 30-hour search by a posse of more than 200 men, Lyle Buckingham, 19, of Willard, believed lost in the mucklands south of Willard, was located at noon today hunting in Wood county. Willard police were informed.

Young Buckingham, who left home alone early yesterday to hunt rabbits and failed to return last night, was found with his cousin, Harris Buckingham, also of Willard, reports said. The pair neglected to inform relatives when they decided to extend their hunting trip into the second day, police said.

Volunteers Join in Hunt.

The missing youth's father, Mendenhall Buckingham, and several neighbors searched the 5,000-acre waste area throughout the night, and early today were joined by volunteers from Greenwich, Plymouth, Norwalk and Celeryville. The Willard fire siren was sounded early today to summon men for the search.

The father and Robert Frye, secretary of the Willard Sportsmen's league, who organized the searching party this morning, had expressed the belief that the youth possibly had wandered into one of the ashpits or canals in the district.

Pits Dot Wasteland.

Untapped by roads and covered with weeds and underbrush higher than a man's head, the marsh section is not frequented by many hunters. Farmers near the area said the treacherous pits which dot the wasteland could easily trap an inexperienced hunter.

JAPS LAUNCH 3-WAY DRIVE ON NANKING

Thousands of Troops March Through 3 Openings In Main Chinese Defenses.

SOOCHOW FALLS TO JAPAN

Government Announces Formal Removal of Capital to Szechwan Province.

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Japan's legions surged toward Nanking, China's capital, today through three gaps in the main Chinese defenses.

Soochow, pivotal strongpoint of China's "Hindenburg" line west of Shanghai, fell to the Japanese after a fierce bombardment. Japanese said the Chinese army was retreating in confusion from the city, 50 miles west of Shanghai and about 125 miles east of Nanking.

Both ends of the "Hindenburg" line also had been turned by the Japanese today, the 100th day of hostilities on the Shanghai front. Kushing, 25 miles southeast of Soochow, was in Japanese hands. A third Japanese column had skirted Changshu, 25 miles to the north.

Razed by Jap Bombs.

Chinese did not deny the fall of Soochow. They said the vital defense center was abandoned after it virtually had been razed by Japanese aerial bombs. They declared their troops, however, still desperately defended Chankshu, northern anchor of the line.

Chinese said Kashing capitulated only after severe street fighting. A Japanese communique reported Japan's southern forces 15 miles north of Kashing in pursuit of Chinese troops fleeing westward toward Nanking along China's ancient Grand canal.

Division of opinion appeared in Nanking over the advisibility of making a last-ditch stand in the capital's defense or saving it from destruction by withdrawing.

General Issimo Chiang Kai-Shek and his aides were understood to favor defending Nanking at all costs. A growing faction, however, advocated withdrawal before the Japanese arrived.

Another Chinese army resisted desperately in north China to defend Tsinanfu, capital of Shantung province, the only provincial

LEAVE AS THEY GET MESSAGE BY GRAPEVINE

March From Goodyear Plants as Ohio Prepares to Call Out National Guard.

20 UNITS STANDING BY

Factories, Closed by Protests of Lay-Off, to Be Reopened at Midnight Sunday.

AKRON— (UP)—Sit-down strikers evacuated both plants of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company today as national guardsmen in 20 cities prepared for a possible march on Akron and as company officials announced they would open plant gates "as usual" at midnight Sunday for work.

Observers believed the men, who have halted production in the huge factories since early yesterday, acted in response to a mysterious "grapevine" message sent into the plant.

Protest Lay-Offs.

The sit-downs began spontaneously at midnight Thursday in protest against lay-offs of 1,600 workers. Company officials said business recessions necessitated them.

Early today, Adjutant. Emil F. Marx of the Ohio National guard said in Columbus that he had sent a "warning call" to guard commanders in about 20 cities to have their companies ready for a possible call to move to Akron due to the sit-down strike.

Marx said about 2,000 men would be involved should the orders to move on Akron be issued.

Trucks from Camp Perry for the transportation of infantrymen were ordered to the armories in these 20 cities, Marx said. He said the artillery units had their own trucks on hand.

Study Situation.

He also revealed that Gen. Gilson D. Light, Toledo, and Gen. William L. Marlin, Cleveland, had been dispatched to Akron last night to confer with city officials and police there to "size up the situation."

Duce Shifts Cabinet, Puts Self In New Role

Mussolini Takes Over Ministry In Italian Africa; Veteran Colonial Warrior To Be Succeeded as Viceroy By King's Cousin.

ROME—(AP)—Premier Mussolini today announced a shakeup in his cabinet and an important change in colonial administration in which the Duke of Aosta was named Viceroy of Ethiopia and Il Duce himself assumed the African portfolio.

The 39-year-old Duke of Aosta, a tall officer of the air corps who helped conquer Ethiopia, was appointed in the place of the veteran colonial warrior, Marshal Rodolfo Graziani. Aosta is a first cousin, once removed, of King Vittorio Emanuele.

In taking charge of the ministry for Italian Africa, Mussolini replaced Alessandro Lessona. Il Duce honored Gen. Attilio Teruzzi, a veteran of the Spanish campaign, by naming him first assistant in the African ministry.

Secretary Gets Post.

Finance Minister Theon Di Revel, jr., was replaced by Felice Guarnieri, who had been his undersecretary. Renato Ricci, former head of the fascist youth organizations, became an undersecretary in the ministry of corporations.

By today's shakeup, Mussolini assumed the fifth of 14 portfolios in the cabinet—besides the premiership. He is now minister of interior, war, navy, air and colonies.

Putting his strong hand directly on Italy's new African empire, Il Duce announced important changes would be made toward consolidation in administrative affairs.

The installation of Guarnieri as finance minister indicated the importance the premier expected financial affairs to play in empire development. Guarnieri had been director of foreign exchange operations.

There were various reports indicating Aosta would not hold the same power as that of Graziani as viceroy of Ethiopia.

'TIP' PROBED

Police Get Clues In Slaying of Minneapolis Labor Chief.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—(U.P.)—Information furnished by a tipster who predicted the death of a "prominent labor leader" 10 days before the assassination Patrick J. Corcoran, was investigated today by detectives charged with safeguarding six other labor chiefs threatened with death.

The informant, reported to be a physician, told County Attorney Ed J. Goff, he obtained his tip from a conversation overheard in a mid-town cafe. He gave the information to Cedric Adams, gossip columnist, who published it in his newspaper.

The attorney said detectives had been assigned to track down the men who made the statement and it was assumed their names were in his possession. Two plainclothesmen were stationed at the home of each of the union leaders named in death threats—threats believed born of bitter strife for control of Twin City labor.

ASKS FOR LIFE, GETS TEN YEARS

Indiana Youth, In Court, Tells Judge He Can't Get a Job.

INDIANAPOLIS—Robert York, 18, in court for the theft of an automobile, asked Judge Clyde C. Karrer to give him a life sentence.

"You might as well give me life," said York, who twice had served sentences for automobile theft. "I can't get a decent job, and every time I get out the police are on my trail."

The judge sentenced him to one to 10 years in the Indiana reformatory.

HUNTER KILLED

Companion Shoots at Pheasant, Charge Hits Youth In Head.

TOLEDO—(AP)—Carl Null, 21, of Whitehouse, was shot and killed instantly this morning when a fellow hunter shot at a pheasant and the charge struck him in the back of the head, according to deputy sheriffs.

Gilbert Andrews of Whitehouse, a member of the hunting party, fired the fatal charge, witnesses told Coroner William M. Shapiro.

CLOSES CASE

State to Rest Today in Trial of Police Killer Suspect.

SPRINGFIELD—(AP)—The state called one of its principal witnesses, Patrolman Martin Donnelly, to the witness stand today and was expected to rest late this afternoon its case against Henry Dingledine, 27, on trial for murder in the "police trap" deaths of two officers.

Donnelly was one of the officers who battled with four payroll bandits at a nearby Crystal lake cottage, Sept. 3, in a gun fight that brought death to a patrolman, Martin Randolph; Deputy Sheriff Edward Furry and Robert Cornette, paroled convict.

Donnelly was wounded in the exchange of gunfire as was Harry Chapman of Chicago, under indictment with Dingledine's father, Harry, in connection with the case.

WED AND FINED

Bridegroom Drove Too Fast To Get To His Wedding.

BALLINGER, Tex.—(AP)—"I now pronounce you man and wife. Fourteen dollars and 50 cents for speeding and $2.50 for the ceremony," Justice B. W. Pilcher told Bridegroom Hassell Ratliff.

Ratliff said he had driven fast because the was late for the ceremony.

WINTRY BLASTS WILL CONTINUE

Weatherman Sees No Let-up In Cold Over Week-End; Snow Covers State.

Mansfielders today buttoned up their overcoats and prepared for a wintry week-end and hazardous motoring conditions over slippery highways and streets.

Snow continued in most portions of the state throughout the night with the temperature hovering in the mid-twenties. After dropping to 21 degrees in Mansfield last night, the mercury had climbed five degrees, to 26 at noon today.

Snow flurries and colder weather was predicted for tonight with the forecast of continued cold and fair tomorrow.

Temperature drops as low as 15 to 20 degrees were forecast for Kentucky and the southwestern Ohio. At Portsmouth and in the Scioto valley, rain and a near freezing temperature was reported, Associated Press dispatches said.

State highday and city street department employes were kept on the job spreading cinders and salt on county roads and city streets to alleviate the slippery road conditions.

Numerous minor traffic accidents, due to the ice covered streets, were reported throughout the state and street car and motor bus travel was off schedule.

DUFFY SUMMONS 2,000 IN PROBE

Inquiry Opens Monday In Ohio Parole Racket Charges.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Witnesses estimated by Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy to total 2,000 will be summoned before a special grand jury which begins Monday an investigation to determine if there has been graft in the paroling of convicts in Ohio prisons.

Heading the first group of witnesses will be officials of Ohio penitentiary and the state parole board, in addition to representatives of 26 building and loan associations, eight banks and four automobile dealers.

The grand jury beginning work Monday is the first of several which Duffy has received permission from Gov. Martin L. Davey to have impaneled throughout the state.

ICE AT NIAGARA

Spray From Falls Freezes In Fanciful Patterns.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—(AP)—The season's first small display of ice scenery glistened about Niagara Falls today as temperatures fell below freezing.

Spray froze to trees and shrubbery at Prospect Point, Luna Point, the Horseshoe fall and Terrapin trail.

KILLED BY AUTO

FINDLAY—(AP)—William Newcomer, 67, of Carey, died last night after being struck by an automobile on the highway four miles north of Carey.

WREATHS GO UP

Yule Decorations Being Placed In Business Section.

Downtown streets began to take on a Christmas-like appearance today as the Retail Merchants association began decorating the streets and Central park.

Christmas wreaths were placed on light standards along Fourth street and a part of Main street this morning. The style of last year's decorating will be used again this year, according to V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants.

The whiteway lamp standards on the downtown streets and around the park will be wreathed and festooned with stringers of colored lights and greens across the streets, and with an arrangement of Christmas trees in the park. The fountain will be strung with colored lights and red and green shades will be placed inside the whiteway lamps around the park.

ASHLAND FUND CLOSE TO GOAL

$4,940 Still Needed as Campaign Draws to Close Today.

ASHLAND — Ashland's ninth annual Community Fund drive will come to a close tonight with $4,940.84 still needed to reach this year's goal of $26,000.

A check late last night after Friday's contributions had been turned in showed that contributions totaled $21,059.16. Every effort was being made today by workers to reach the goal by tonight.

Ashland has reached its goal each year during the past eight years of the campaign. The 1937 drive opened last Monday.

BATS FOR SHERIFF

CAMDEN, N. J.—(AP)—The coroner will sell out the sheriff Monday in Camden county. Because the law forbids Sheriff Joseph H. Van Meter from selling a garage he owns to satisfy a judgment, Dr. Ernest Larossa, coroner, will put the property under the hammer.

Jackie and Betty to Be Wed Today In Movieland

Excursion Boat Romance Leads To Altar For Coogan, Once Star Juvenile, And America's 'Ideal Girl.'

HOLLYWOOD—(U.P.)—This is young love's day in movieland; wedding day for Jackie Coogan and Betty Grable. It is the first love for each of them. They are sure it will endure, and both will reserve their movie careers.

Coogan went to work in pictures at the age of 4, first as an urchin in rags with a cap much too large for him. That picture was called "The Kid," and Charles Chaplin was the star. Many pictures followed and his family saved and invested his money. Now he is 23 and has about $1,000,000.

She's "Ideal Girl."

Miss Grable came from St. Louis and has been named by a committee of artists and critics as "America's ideal girl." She is blond, and 20 years old.

They met and fell in love three years ago on an excursion boat and pursued the romance in this strange colony where many of their elders regard marriage as a habit rather than an institution.

The bride decided this week to join the Catholic church, making a church wedding at St. Brendan's permissable. Coogan is a Catholic, and only Catholics may have a church wedding. The ceremony will be at 3:30 p. m. with Father William L. Mullane officiating.

The movie producers stopped work on "College Swing" for the wedding. Miss Grable is the star of the picture. Coogan took a minor role just to be near her. He has been doing little acting since he grew to manhood.

They will go to Palm Springs, a desert resort 100 miles away, for a two-day honeymoon. They must return to work Monday morning.

FALL KILLS BABY

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Two-year-old John Howard Rupert died in a Columbus hospital today of injuries suffered a few days ago in a fall at the home of his parents.

40 INJURED

Ambulances Rushed to Train Wreck Scene in West Va.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va.—(AP)—The Norfolk and Western's passenger train No. 24 was wrecked about six miles west of here today and first reports were that some 40 persons were injured. No deaths were reported.

First reports were that the baggage car and three passenger coaches overturned but that the engine stayed on the tracks. These reports did not specify whether the cars were Pullmans or day day coaches.

All available ambulances in Bluefield were rushed to the scene at the crossing of the Bluestone river, and the first to return brought in injured persons but no bodies. It was impossible to determine immediately how many were suffering serious injuries.

2 BROTHERS DIE

Third Injured In Auto Crash Near Ohio Town.

BRYAN—(AP)—Two brothers were killed and a third was injured seriously last night in an automobile collision five miles northeast of here. The dead are Richard McBride, 18, and Lyndall McBride, 16, both of Bryan. Wilbur McBride of Bryan was taken to a hospital.

Grotto Circus To Open Week's Stay In City Monday

Persons who "get dizzy" walking a narrow plank across a pool of water will get a thrill at the Great Eastern indoor circus at the Coliseum next week when they see Harold Barnes nonchalantly walking, bounding and tumbling on an almost invisible tight wire, stretched high above the arena.

The circus, being brought to Mansfield by the Baku Grotto opens at 8 p. m. Monday for a week's engagement, with two performances each day after the opening. There wil be shows at 2 and 8 p. m., and the doors will open an hour earlier. Barnes is one of the 100 performers who will appear.

Among the stars with the circus is Rita De La Plata, European aerialist who made her debut at Madison Square Garden this season; the Hobsons, a group of bareback riders; Julia Rogers, songbird with a dual voice; Betty Stevens, elephant trainer and her animals, a score of clowns and performing animals.

The headline star of the circus is Hoot Gibson, cowboy movie star, with his congress of cowboys and cowgirls.

CRASH KILLS 3

Chicagoans Die, When Automobile Crashes Into Tree.

JACKSON, Mich.—(U.P.)—Three Chicagoans were killed and two others injured, one seriously, when their car went out of control late last night and crashed into a tree 15 miles west of here.

The dead: Pietro Carello, Mike Paladin, and a man named Lucci. Charles Carlson and Albin Newman, driver of the car, were taken to Mercy hospital here.

TROUBLE UNDONE

One Grid Scrimmage Breaks His Nose, Second Puts It Back.

GARNETT, Kas.—(AP)—Captain Lorimer McLaughlin of the Garnett high school football team emerged from a pile-up with a broken nose.

He stayed in the game. A few minutes later he emerged from another scramble, discovered his nose had been knocked back into place.

Hunt Heirs To $29,000 Estate Left by Ex-Ashland Peddler

ASHLAND—Probate court officials here today were faced with the task of finding legal heirs to a $29,000 estate left by Solomon "Sam" Rosenberg, a spectacle salesman, who was believed penniless when he died four months ago in Sturges, Mich.

The court so far has found 33 alleged heirs to the aged man's estate. They live all over the United States and in three European countries, but they will have to prove their legal relationship before they share in the estate, Judge S. H. Boffenmyer said.

Mr. Rosenberg's wealth was discovered only through an old deposit slip found among his belongings in a home near Hayesville where he stayed a short time before his death.

The slip, showing a $200 deposit in a Cleveland bank, led to the discovery of the funds which were on deposit in five Cleveland banks and one outside the state.

Joseph A. Siegel, Toledo law student, and great-nephew of Mr. Rosenberg, was named administrator of the estate after he went to Ashland to learn if his uncle had left a will or expressed a preference for a burial place. No will has been found.

The aged peddler apparently made his living only from the sale of trinkets and spectacles. He died last July at the home of relatives in the Michigan city.

1937 Football Season Reaches Climax In Today's Contests

The 1937 football season will literally pass into history today. There will be a sprinkling of games Thanksgiving day and next Saturday, but the majority of the collegiate and scholastic outfits will conclude their campaigns today. Most of them on snow-covered gridirons.

Today's final big day of the waning season includes the renewal of a number of traditional rivalries, as well as several important championship games.

In the mid-west, the Big Ten clashes bringing together Ohio State and Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin and Indiana and Purdue head the bill. Notre Dame tackles Northwestern in another topnotcher.

The Ohio schedule is featured by the Buckeye conference clash pitting Dayton against Marshall.

The Harvard-Yale, Boston college-Boston U., Dartmouth-Columbia, Holy Cross-Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh Penn State, Navy-Princeton, Syracuse-Colgate and Villanova-Temple and Fordham-St. Mary's games hold the interest in the east.

Duke faces North Carolina State and Auburn meets Georgia in the headliners in the abbreviated south card, while Rice tackles Texas Christian in the No. 1 game in the southwest.

The Pacific coast menu is topped by the Oregon State-Washington State, Stanford-California and Washington-Oregon clashes.

Mansfield's attention is attracted by two games, the Tygers' final appearance of the season against Ashland at Stadium field and the Massillon-Canton McKinley tiff in Canton.

MISS RICHARDS WED TO JEROME ZOELLER

Bride Given In Marriage At Altar of Catholic Church; Couple Leaves On Eastern Trip After Reception.

APPROACHING the altar at St. Peter's Catholic church on the arm of her father, Carl Richards, Miss Marie Richards was married to Edward Jerome Zoeller, son of Mr. and Mrs. August M. Zoeller, Louisville, Ky., this morning at 10:45. Miss Richards is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richards, 320 Central avenue. Performing the ceremony was the pastor of the church, Rev. Fr. R. C. Goebel. The church was decorated with tapers, palms, and ferns for the ceremony. Organist Raymond Baum furnished the music.

Miss Richards wore a pure white satin gown with a lace yoke and a stiff stand-up lace collar framing her face. Her veil was of finger-tip length fasted around the crown of her head with a simple pearl tiara. The sleeves of her gown were long and buttoned ending in points at the hands. The wedding dress fastened in back from neck to waist with tiny satin covered buttons. The bride's only ornament was a pearl clip at the throat of her frock. She carried a large arm bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Blue Slipper Satin.

The maid of honor was her sister, Miss Ann Richards, who wore a royal blue slipper satin dress with long puffed sleeves, a tiny train and a "Vee" neck decorated with a silver clip. A matching veil was attached with a narrow band of roses and pompons. She wore silver accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pompons and Talisman roses.

Mrs. Michael Richards, bridesmaid, wore a dress of dusky rose slipper satin made in the same style as that worn by the maid of honor. Her accessories were of gold and her bouquet the same.

Mrs. Richards, the bride's mother, wore brown crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of pompons and roses. Carl Zoeller was the best man, and ushers were Carl Richards and Justin Richards.

Wedding Breakfast.

At the bride's home a wedding breakfast was served for members of the wedding party, following which there was a reception for guests and members of the families. The couple then left for a wedding trip east.

For a going away costume Mrs. Zoeller wore a gray coat with caracul trim over a wine wool crepe dress with a wine hat, gray purse and gloves, and multicolored shoes. She wore a corsage of roses and pompons. Upon their return they will be at home at 173 East Third street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Zoeller are graduates of St. Peter's school, and Mr. Zoeller is employed at a Mansfield manufacturing plant.

Out-of-town guests other than Mr. and Mrs. Zoeller here for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, Louisville, Ky.

STYLE WHIMSY

Slacks are to be worn at the southern resorts this winter and that means that they will again be popular next summer. The neatly tailored slacks are those that are favored.

CHARCOAL STOVE HANDY

Charcoal stoves are handy to use in outdoor cooking. Folding stoves, which are easy to carry, may be purchased. Only a few cents' worth of charcoal will be needed.

Formal Nighties.

Nightgowns are following formal evening dresses in having covered the shoulders. Projections from the shoulders or short, wide sleeves achieve the styling.

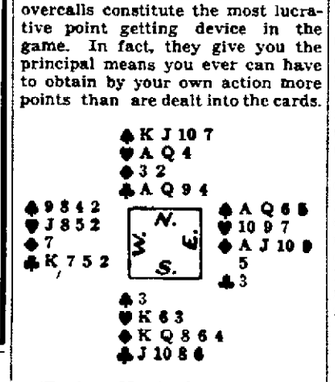
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

A LUCRATIVE DEVICE

Business doubles of doubtful overcalls constitute the most lucrative point getting device in the game. In fact, they give you the principal means you ever can have to obtain by your own action more points than are dealt into the cards.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

This deal came up in a recent duplicate and various results were obtained. At one table North started with 1-Club, East overcalled with 1-Diamond, South bid 3-Clubs, North 3-Spades, and South 3-No Trump.

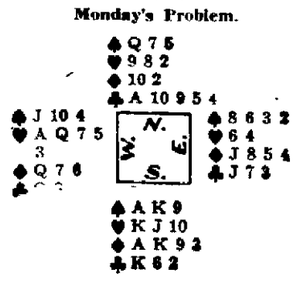
At another table North bid 1-Club, East 1-Diamond and South doubles. This North-South pair scored a plus 800 for their side.

Where the 3-No Trump was reached 3-No Trump was made at some tables and 4-No Trump at others.

The best score on the board, however, was earned by the South player who figured his side could earn much more by doubling a vulnerable opponent, even at the level of one, than by going on to a game. His reasoning was correct and as a result he was rewarded with a top score on the board.

* * *

Monday's Problem.



(Dealer South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What play should South try to make his contract of 3-No Trump, after the lead of the heart 5, and what play by West can prevent him from doing so?

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Jim is as respectful to me as his tempestuous wife, Katie, is unconsciously impudent. But at my question as to how one could damage a car so that the repair charge wouldn't be exorbitant, and so that it would take over a day to put it in commission again, a horrified expression flashed into his eyes. The look would have been more natural in a father alarmed at some sudden recklessness in his child than in a man of all work being questioned by the mistress of the house.

"Who would be wrecking the car?" he countered.

I debated for a second the advisability of telling him what I meant to do, then saw the uselessness of pretending that mine was an abstract question. Then, too, I knew that Jim was "as safe as a church," and any confidence given to him would be buried deep in his soul until permission was given to him to reveal it.

"I intend to do the wrecking myself," I said. "I would not ask anyone else to take the risk."

Wants to Do It.

I heard Jim catch his breath sharply, and saw a distinctly worried look come into his eyes.

"Look here, Mis' Graham," he said earnestly, though haltingly for Jim is as chary of speech as Katie is prodigal, "if there's anything to be done like that, you'd better let me tackle it. In the first place, you'd only hurt yourself, for you haven't had any experience monkeying with the insides of cars; and in the second place, if there's any—trouble—comes of it, afterward, it'd better be me to take it than you."

He stopped to take breath, then went on, still slowly, but with an effect of breathlessness.

"You see, your father told me once that he depended on me to look after you when he was away, and I don't see how it would be right to let you get mixed up in something that might let you get in wrong with—with the law."

His fear for me was real, even if ludicrous in the light of the knowledge I had of my plan. The laugh I choked back for fear of hurting him had something akin to tears in it, for fidelity like Jim's is rare in this topsy-turvy world.

No Need to Worry.

"You don't need to worry on that last score, Jim," I said quickly. "There is no possibility of my getting involved with the law."

I stopped, conscious that his kind, steady eyes were looking at me with the anxiety—and the courage—with which my father's charge had imbued him.

"You wouldn't feel that you could tell me about what it was you wanted," he said diffidently.

With sudden resolution, I took a step nearer to him.

"Of course, I will tell you all about it," I said. "That is only your right. It's very simple, but it is something secret—"

I let the word hang in the air, and Jim answered me with more quickness than is his wont.

"I guess you don't need to worry none on that score about me, nor Katie neither, even if she does let her tongue run away with her sometimes. But—and there was a bit of ludicrous anxiety in his tone—she don't need to know nothing about this, does she?"

Keep It Secret.

"No, Jim," I answered, biting back a smile. "No one outside ourselves needs to know anything about this. And when I tell you what it is I am sure you will think I am doing right."

"I'd think that, anyway, about anything you did, Mis' Graham," he said with surprising quickness, and this time the sudden choke in my throat was not from laughter.

"It's all for Miss Mary, Jim," I said. "You've been right here in the family, and I do not need to tell you that we are always afraid Mr. Neal's father is trying in some underhand way to separate him from Miss Mary."

"He's a slimy snake, that old Veritzen, Jim said with sudden vigor. "If it's something to spite him you're planning, Mis' Graham, I'd sit up nights for a week without any sleep to get a chance to get into it."

TWO BROTHERS MARRY IN DOUBLE CEREMONY

Miss Martha Wehinger, Miss Rita Jurgens Wed To Justin And Howard Guisinger Before St. Peter's Altar.

IN A CHARMING double ceremony held at St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 this morning Miss Martha Wehinger and Miss Rita Jurgens became the brides of Justin and Howard Guisinger. The service was read by Rev. Fr. R. C. Goebel amid an altar banked with palms, ferns, and lighted tapers. The brides entered the church together clad in contrasting street length frocks.

Miss Wehinger wore a light blue crepe outfit trimmed with dubonnet and a tiny hat with a matching veil. The costume of Miss Jurgens was a rose taupe with gold trim and brown accessories. Her hat was brown with a small veil. Both brides wore corsages of gardenias and lilies of the valley. In their clasped hands they carried white leather prayer books. That of Miss Jurgens was given to her when she took the first communion.

Sister Attends.

Miss Wehinger was attended by her sister Miss Agnes Wehinger who wore gray with royal blue, and Miss Jurgens' attendant was Miss Mary Schiska who was clad in a simple eggshell crepe dress with mahogany accessories. They wore Johanna Hill and Talisman roses. Attending Justin Guisinger was his brother Emerson, and standing with Howard Guisinger was Miss Jurgens' brother, Raymond. Ushers were Floyd Wehinger, Norman Jurgens and Maurice Wehinger, Akron.

The two couples are planning a short wedding trip after which Mr. and Mrs. Justin Guisinger will be at home at 179 North Mulberry street, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Guisinger will be at home with the father of the bride at 159 Lind avenue.

Mrs. Justin Guisinger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wehinger, 376 West Fifth street, and Mrs. Howard Guisinger is the daughter of Harry Jurgens, 159 Lind avenue. The bridegrooms are the sons of Charles M. Guisinger, 274 West Fourth street.

Have Reception.

After the ceremony there was a reception at the Susie Janis Home for the members of the wedding party and the families of the two couples.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding and the reception which followed were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wesbecker and family, Botkins; Mr. Leonard Yahl and family, St. Mary's; Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Obermiller, Mrs. Helena Jurgens, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Jurgens, Dover; Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Meier and family and Mr. and Mrs. John Herbst, Canton; Mr. Leo Guisinger and Miss Bertha Guisinger, Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Guisinger and daughter, Rosemary, Akron; Mr. and Mrs. William Freeze, Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Notacker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Payne, Mrs. Joseph Page and son, Robert, and Mrs. John Peyssard, Shelby; Mr. Jack Donohue and Miss Rita Donohue, Lorain.

Mrs. V. H. Lodde will present a dramatic program at the Women's club for the Cosmopolitan guest tea which will be given Dec. 3. Mrs. W. B. Ford, Mrs. A. C. Butterfield, and Mrs. D. P. Smith will be the hostesses.

HOROSCOPE

For Monday, Nov. 22.

Monday's astrological forecast is a very important one for solid achievements in the way of progress and the stability of the fortunes through business as well as the intervention of friends. There may be requests, insurance or trusts, together with the accumulation of real possessions in investments after a period of stagnation.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of solid growth and expansion, both in investments, business and through the benefices of friends. This may come about possibly through trusts, insurance or real estate.

A child born on this day may be studious, profound and steadfast, thus attracting gifts or bequests of elders or friends.

For Sunday, November 21.

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE shows much pleasant activity in social, domestic and romantic affiliations. This may involve change or travel, all of a gratifying nature, with romance and cultural indulgence, music and mirth abounding.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively and happy year, with a probable romance enlisting the attention. Be careful in employment.

A child born on this day may be fond of pleasure and social life, with the possibility of a conspicuous romance in its career.

Smart Jerkin.

Sweater and suede jerkin in bright contrast are smart for the schoolgirl, and make delightful Christmas or birthday gifts.

The anniversary occurs on Wednesday, Nov. 24. The celebrants left Galion eight years ago to make their home with their only son, Wallace, in Cleveland.

JAPS PUSHING WAY TO NANKING

capital uncaptured in the Japanese northern conquest.

Chinese batteries still prevented Japanese engineers from repairing a dynamited railroad bridge across the Yellow river, about five miles north of Tsinanfu. Reports of fighting at Lokow, south of the river and about four miles from the city, indicated, however, that the Japanese had forced at least one crossing.

Chinese elements favoring withdrawal from Nanking warned that the Japanese soon might break through the defenses both north and south of Lake Taihu, drive on to Wuhu, then above Nanking on the Yangtze river and cut off all Chinese armies in that area.

Government Flees Nanking Capital.

NANKING—(AP)—The Chinese government formally announced removal of the nation's capital today to Chungking in Szechwan province.

Government officials, however, reiterated their determination to resist the Japanese to the last man.

Full evacuation, however, was not expected at least for another week. (Dispersal of central government ministers and officials to several inland cities has been in progress for a week without a formal announcement of evacuation).

Civil departments, the government declared, were withdrawing "in order to conform to requirements of the present state of hostilities and to be more advantageously situated to direct national affairs and maintain prolonged resistance."

ACCEPTS BID

SHELBY — A bid today from the Mansfield Asphalt company, was accepted for the construction of street improvements and sidewalks for the East End Boulevard extension, according to Bert Fix, director of finance. The bid earlier this week was rejected but upon a request of the property owners of the extension was accepted today, Fix said. Construction on the extension will start Monday.

Father of Boy Burned In Bonfire Wins Damages.

A $750 verdict for Forest Workman of near Mansfield, plaintiff in a $20,202 damage suit against A. Fred Greter, had been returned today in common pleas court after counsel for both Workman and Greter waived a jury trial.

Workmon sought damages for his six-year-old son, Harry Dale Workman, who suffered burns on his legs in November, 1936, when he fell into a bonfire at Greter's lake west of Mansfield.

The boy's father contended that Greter, who was proprietor of Greter's lake park at the time of the accident, was negligent in starting the fire where the child would be attracted to it. The Workman family lived near the lake when the boy suffered the burns.

Motions for a new trial filed by counsel for both sides were overruled by Judge C. H. Huston who assessed $19 costs against Greter.

SHELBY WOMAN DIES AT HOME

SHELBY—Mrs. Mary Blanche Krukenberg, 57, a Shelby resident 20 years died today at the home, 68 Marvin avenue, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Krukenberg was born in North Auburn.

Surviving are her husband, August; a son, Paul of Cleveland; a daughter, Mrs. Alma Musick of Beaver Falls, Pa.; five brothers, Lloyd F. Ludwig of Shelby; Alma A., of New Brighton, Pa., and Howard, Carl and Robert of Beaver Falls, Pa.; four sisters, Mrs. Orpha Brockhouse and Mrs. John Busse of Beaver Falls, Mrs. John Dobbin of Alequippa, Pa., and Mrs. Harold Lutton of New Brighton.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Monday at the home, with Rev. D. B. Young of the First Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be made in the Greenlawn cemetery, Plymouth.

GALION MAYOR SURPRISES CITY HALL STAFF BY QUIET WEDDING

GALION—Mayor W. M. King took city officials and most of the city by surprise when he was married yesterday and quietly left his office for a week's honeymoon.

Mayor King and Audrey Wilhelm were married at a single ring service by Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of the First Reformed church at the parsonage. They were unattended.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. J. A. Wilhelm of 609 Grove avenue, and the late Mr. Wilhelm. She has been employed at the Ohio Overcoat company, and is well known in Galion.

Mayor King's marriage follows closely his election to third term as head of the city government. He was first elected to the mayoralty in 1933 when he defeated Dr. H. H. Hartmann who was seeking his tenth term of office. Again in 1935, Mayor King defeated Hartmann by a larger margin, and his election this month was yet a larger majority. Mayor King is secretary of the Galion Building and Loan company, and also Galion agent and a member of the board of directors of the Home Mutual Fire association of Crawford county. He is the son of Mrs. Katherine King who has been making her home with him, and the late Joseph King.

Other particulars of the coupe's plans were not learned.

RITES MONDAY

Mrs. Sarah Mulberg Stricken at Son's Home In Galion.

GALION—Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Jane Mulberg, 74, will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the home of her son, Harvey Mulberg of 469 South Riblet street. Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery.

Mrs. Mulberg died Friday at the home of her son after an illness of the past two weeks.

She was born in Morrow county, April 27, 1863, the daughter of John and Barbara Weibling, and has been a resident of Galion for the past 30 years. She was married on July 4, 1884, to Benjamin F. Mulberg who died 19 years ago.

Survivors are three sons and a daughter: Ervin, Harvey and Albert Mulberg and Mrs. Omie Triesch all of Galion. There are also five grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Catherine Hetrick of Ashley.

P.T.A. at Galion Stages Festival At Junior High

GALION—Another successful festival was sponsored Friday night at the Junior high building by the Parent-Teachers' association of the West elementary and Junior high school.

Beginning with a cafeteria supper, the evening's program included a pet show, various concessions, and amateur shows presented by the elementary grades and the Junior high, respectively. The shows were in charge of Louise Lorentz and committee.

Those taking part on the elementary program were: Teddy Rehl, Alfred Corrado, Georgia Marie Forsyth, Gloria Saperstein, Maxine Nagelbush, Magdeline Dickerson, Grace Huy, Joe Timson, Marilyn Beck, Patsy Ann Timson, Maxine Craner, Richard Ness, Bobby Caris, Elnora Huber, Arline Craner, and Joan Korb.

Participants for the Junior high program included: Robert Champion, Lawrence Faust, Ralph Kleinknecht, Dale Luscaleet, Delbert Stinehelfer, Howard Leiblich, David Gillespie, Jane Wagner, Carol Morris, Nettie Hawkins, Junior Heiby, Paul and James Haas, Jean Lingo, Glen Fowble, Leslie Harden, Carl Fendrick, Margaret Harris, Annabelle Chapman.

NEED $3,000 TO END BUCYRUS FUND CAMPAIGN

Workers Checking Lists of Prospects In Efforts to Raise Last of Goal.

BUCYRUS—Workers in the Community chest drive, are today checking their lists in another attempt to raise the additional $3,000 needed to fill the quota set at the beginning of the campaign last week.

Many pledge cards are yet unfilled, workers have reported, and individuals who have not been contacted are requested by M. E. Schieber, chairman of the drive, to contact the office of the Peoples Savings Loan company, headquarters for the drive.

A total of $8,420 has been pledged of the quota of $1,690.

Agencies to benefit by the chest include the Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army, Boy and Girl Scouts and an emergency fund of $1,500.

GETS TAX FUNDS

BUCYRUS — Receipt of the county's share from automobile registration fees were announced today by County Auditor C. C. Metzger.

Of the total amount received Bucyrus received $114.49; Galion, $180.31 and Crestline, $69.37. Villages, Chatfield $7.83; New Washington, $12.85; North Robinson, $11.25; Tiro, $672 and the county receives $3,114.87.

SHELBY BOYS HELD

BUCYRUS—Charges are yet to be determined against three Shelby youths who are being held in county jail awaiting hearing before Probate Judge Constance Keller.

The youths are accused of stealing an automobile from A. M. Shafer of Galion November 8, and later wrecking the car at Bexley, O.

GIVES REVIEW

At the annual guest day of the Unity club, held in the social hall of the Presbyterian church Thursday, Mrs. Amos L. Conn of Perrysburg reviewed "You Can't Take It With You," Pulitzer prize play last year. Music for the program was a group of songs by Stephen Foster, sung by Mrs. Kenneth Wildman of Norwalk, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Dorothy Goodrich of Norwalk who wore quaint colonial costumes. A luncheon preceded the program. Places were marked for 87 at long tables decorated with fruit and bitter sweet. Mrs. M. C. Van Allen, vice president, welcomed the group and the program chairman, Mrs. R. P. Sharick, presided during the program. Mrs. W. W. Christian was luncheon chairman and Mrs. R. E. Hoffman and Mrs. B. C. Lewis were the members of the reception committee.

TO DONATE TURKEYS

The Elks lodge will again furnish the turkeys for the Thanksgiving dinner at Municipal hospital as has been their custom each year since the institution opened here. This lodge maintains a room at the hospital and each year sponsors at least one benefit party for the auxiliary supply fund.

91—Walks Daily

"A walk a day keeps the doctor away" is the slogan of W. B. Hammett, 198 Helen avenue, who observed his 91st birthday yesterday. Which is one reason why the aged Civil war veteran may be seen on the downtown streets almost every day throughout the year. He is the last of the "Boys of '61" to visit the G. A. R. clubroom in Memorial building with any degree of regularity. Mr. Hammett, who came to Mansfield with his parents in a covered wagon from Pennsylvania when he was a small boy, has resided here 83 years.

HOUSE CAN BE WATER-COOLED AT SMALL COST

Official of Ashland Company Says $20 Will Provide Comfort For Season.

An eight-room house in Chicago and suburbs can be cooled in the summer by the use of well water at an average cost of $20, C. D. Leiter of the F. E. Myers and Brothers company, Ashland, said in an address on "Summer Air Conditioning Using Well Water," at the annual convention of the Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning association.

"Well water cooled underground by nature without cost is not only the most economical cooling agent, but actually the only one within the financial reach of the vast majority of home-owners," Leiter said.

Costs Accurately Kept.

"Operating costs of well water air conditioning installations have been accurately kept. For many residence units in various localities during different summers, these costs have never exceeded 20 per cent of the cost of operating mechanical systems to accomplish the same results.

"Well water temperatures in all sections of the United States except the extreme southern and southeastern states where humidity is excessive, are low enough to accomplish satisfactory summer air conditioning.

"In the southwestern section, because of lack of moisture in the air, a very good job of cooling can be done with well water of higher temperatures.

"In the more largely populated sections of the eastern and central states where climatic conditions make summer air conditioning highly desirable, well water temperatures which vary from 42 to 55 degrees are low enough to insure complete and highly satisfactory summer air conditioning."

RENEWS ATTACK ON POWER ACT

Utility Holds Government's Loans For Muny Plants Unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Duke Power company has contended to the supreme court that it was unconstitutional for the federal government to provide funds for municipal electric plants in an effort to "control and reduce local electric rates."

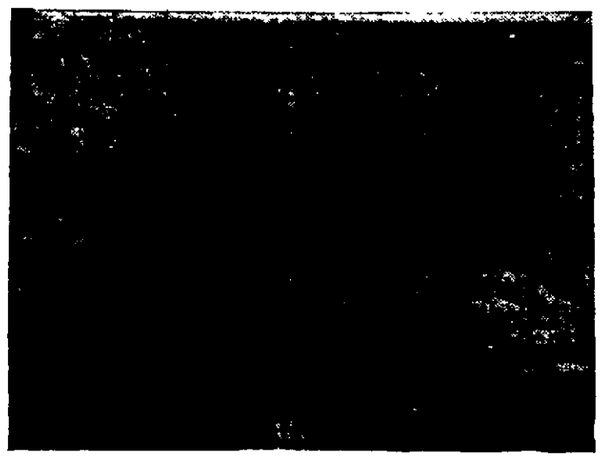
This contention was advanced in a brief filed preparatory to argument December 6 on the power company's effort to prevent the Public Works Administration from making a $2,852,000 loan and grant to Greenwood county, S. C., for an electric plant at Buzzard Roost.

Arguments will be heard at the same time on litigation brought by the Alabama Power company against similar action in four Alabama municipalities.

Signed by Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, and other attorneys, the brief filed today contended the "use of federal funds to control and reduce local electric rates is an attempt to achieve an end denied the federal government and invade powers reserved to the states in violation of the tenth amendment."

The Roman Catholic church which will be built in Joinville, the film colony of Paris, will be named "Our Lady of the Cinema."

Bedroom In Low-Cost Home



This room shows the generous proportions of a bedroom in a small home. A window located next to the dressing table provides cross ventilation and there are two adequate closets which do not appear in the photograph.

COLOR TRANSITIONS FROM ROOM TO ROOM NEED CONSIDERATION

NEW YORK—Professional interior decorators here are making a point of harmonizing the walls of a room with those of the rooms leading out from it. Whether in an apartment or a suburban house, the color effect of each room is enhanced by this plan and the vistas from doorways become much more pleasing.

Take the three interiors which so often open from each other—the entrance hall, living room and dining room. The decorator of an Upper East Side apartment which has just been finished chose light terra cotta for the entrance hall with the trim in oyster white. In the living room, the walls themselves are white, repeating the color of the trim in the foyer; the trim is gray. She might, however, have followed the fashion for colorful contrasts and chosen very light lemon yellow, instead, for the walls.

The dining room opens from the living room. Here the connecting color is the white of the trim, relating it to the walls of the living room. As this particular dining room opens to the south and has sufficient light during the day time, a light gray-blue was used for the walls. This is a frequently chosen color just now because, for one reason, it provides a very good contrast with mahogany furniture. Blue walls, in fact, go well with any of the furniture woods: walnut, maple, and the bleached woods used so much in both contemporary and traditional furniture.

When the kitchen door leads directly from the dining room, the decorator is careful to harmonize the kitchen colors, too. In this apartment, the tiled wainscot, the walls are painted light, sunshiny yellow, contrasting pleasantly with the colors of the dining room when the door swings open.

TROLLEYS GONE

Lancaster Rides in Buses After 41 Years.

LANCASTER —(INS)— After 41 years of faithful service Lancaster's ancient and battered trolleys have been replaced by modern auto buses.

Last trip of No. "15" was marred by a collision with an automobile but proudly, it finished its farewell journey.

Henry B. Peters, first and only president of the Lancaster Traction company, owner of the cars, supervised requiem ceremonies for the trolleys which have carried 50,000-000 fares.

FANCY BLINDS

A new wrinkle in interior decoration is the painting of floral motifs or landscapes on venetian blinds. The design may be effectively worked out in colors that contrast harmoniously with the walls of the room or in different shades of one color. Pale or soft tones are recommended. Try a pale cream background with light gray or green design, or a warm buff background decorated in soft dull reds or pinks.

ADMIT CHARGE

Fathers In Court For Keeping Children Out of School.

Two fathers who pleaded guilty before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston yesterday to charges of failing to send their children to school were given 10-day jail sentences which were suspended on the condition that the pupils be kept in school.

The defendants, cited on affidavits filed by H. J. Sir Louis, county attendance officer, were W. M. Kegley of Springfield township and Charles Stevens of Bellville. Kegley has a daughter of high school age and Stevens is the father of two sons who had been kept out of high school, the court was told.

Judge Huston warned both defendants that they would have to serve the sentences in the event of another complaint from the attendance officer. They were given 60 days in which to pay the court costs.

It'll Be John Lucas Against John Lucas In Cleveland Today.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

ODDS 'N' ENDS: It was John Lucas against John Lucas today as Western Reserve and John Carroll collided in football. One is a halfback for Reserve, while the other plays center for Carroll. Both are Slovak descent, residents of Sharpesville, Pa., and sophomores. They teammates in high school. Although they spell their names alike, Sharpesville friends have no difficulty. The Reserve Lucas is "Yonk," which is Slovak for John. The Carroll Lucas is "Yuntch," another way of saying John... Don't feel sorry for the athletic situation at Chicago U. It has the chess champion of the Big Ten in Henry Kellogg... Babe Didrikson averaged 237 yards with her tee shots in a recent match in Chattanooga... Coach Russ Murphy was the principal speaker at the banquet honoring the Erie, Pa., Strong Vincent gridders this week...

Stubbers' Record Still Pretty Good

STEUBENVILLE high school hadn't lost more than two football games in any season since 1920 until this year.... Geneva, coached by Ray Overturf, former Shelby assistant, recently defeated Ashtabula Harbor the first time in 22 years... Capt. Eyston's Thunderbolt is the result of 1,000 drawings.... Football players at Duke have formed a "Black Eye" club. Every player suffering a "shiner" is eligible.... The "Downtown Coaches Association" of Toledo is conducting a poll to select Ohio's outstanding college football player.... Cincinnati boasts the poorest offensive and defensive record of any of the 150 collegiate elevens in the nation. ....The University of Akron will not conduct a coaching clinic next year. Insufficient support is the reason.... And that reminds us of this: Jimmy Aiken may leave Akron for another post...."Red" Hunt, Kalamazoo fullback, who led his conference in scoring last fall, has yet to score his first touchdown this year. He's still a regular, too.

Just a Gesture; Track Needs Money

A HUGE SIGN has been built outside of the elaborate Santa Anita race track in California urging customers to keep their money in their pockets. It's just a gesture....because the track needs their money to operate.....Harness racing in the United States dates back to 1750 ....South Carolina's grid customers are amused during the intermission by a group of students doing "The Big Apple"... Bernie Jefferson, Northwestern colored halfback, made a talk at a church in Dayton the night following the Ohio State game.... Detroit fans aren't going for Walter O. Briggs' idea of changing the name of Navin field to Briggs stadium....

KAPLANOFF HONORED

Bucyrus Boy Named To Berth On U. P. All-Big Ten Eleven.

Carl Kaplanoff of Bucyrus, Ohio State star, was selected to a tackle berth on the United Press All-Big Ten announced today. The team follows: King, Minnesota, and Zachary, Purdue, ends; Kaplanoff, Ohio, and Haak, Indiana, tackles; Twedell, Minnesota, and Heikkinen, Michigan, guards; Miller, Indiana, center; McDonald, Ohio; Kinnick, Iowa; Gmitro, Minnesota, and Davis, Indiana, backs. Ream, Wolf, Schoenbaum and Raab of Ohio received honorable mention.

POOR OLD CINCINNATI

Even Little Holbrook Wants Crack At Losing Bearcats.

MANCHESTER, O.—(AP)—Alfred Holbrook, Ohio's smallest college, sought today to pit its football strength against a team from one of the state's largest institutions of learning—the University of Cincinnati.

Coach Mendell E. Beattie said he had written the Cincinnati school—member of the Buckeye conference—in an effort to stage a season-opener, either here or in the Queen City.

RECOMMENDS FRED STAUB

GALION—Fred Staub, senior fullback of Galion high school football team will be recommended by Coach Robert Cory as a member of the All-Ohio high school team that will play the All-Florida team at Miami on New Year's day, it has been announced here.

RENEW OLD GRID RIVALRY

STEUBENVILLE—(AP)—Renewal of athletic relation between Steubenville and Martins Ferry high schools next year was arranged today after an interval of 17 years. The first meeting will be in a football game next November.

RISKO TO MEET LEWIS

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Johnny Risko's second fight in his comeback attempt was slated today for Dec. 17 at Cleveland Public hall where he will meet John Hendy Lewis, light heavyweight champion.

KO's Beauhuld In 5th Round

Armstrong Hands Rival First Defeat In 44 Bouts.

NEW YORK—(AP)—There was a feeling in informed circles around here today that Lou Ambers, the lightweight boxing champion, would keep his title only so long as he managed to stay out of the same ring with Henry Armstrong.

In scoring a technical five-round knockout over Billy Beauhuld, a useful lightweight, last night at the garden, Armstrong convinced 14,000 fans he was ripe to exchange his featherweight crown for the 135-pound sceptre.

The ebon torpedo gave Beauhuld such a painful hiding that Referee Arthur Donovan stopped it as soon as the bell ended the fifth round. Beauhuld, undefeated in his previous 44 straight fights, looked like he had been shoved through a concrete mixer head first.

Armstrong, who only recently knocked out Petey Sarron to win undisputed possession of the feather title, weighed 132¼ last night, and the little Negro appeared to revel in the extra poundage. Beauhuld, two pounds heavier, never had a chance of going the route.

OPEN SEASON TONIGHT

Adario Vies at Bellville in Non-League Game.

Bellville and Adario high schools will inaugurate their 1937-38 court seasons in a non-league game in Bellville tonight. This game will give Coaches Larry Saltis of Adario and Royd Hodge of Bellville an opportunity to size up their squads before their league seasons open.

Adario is a member of the Twin-Valley league, while Bellville performs in the Richland county league.

PLAN FOR CAGE SEASON

Senior League Managers To Meet At Friendly House Monday.

An important meeting of teams expecting to enter the Senior basketball league at the Friendly House will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Friendly House. Mike Wentz, league head, urges all managers to be present.

GREENWICH FIVE READY

Opens Season With Nova Tuesday, Coach Doren Announces.

GREENWICH—The Greenwich high school cage club will open its season with Nova here Tuesday night, Coach L. R. Doren announced today. Other games on the Greenwich schedule follow: Dec. 1, New Haven, here; Dec. 10, at Wakeman; Dec. 14, at Plymouth; Dec. 17, North Fairfield, here; Dec. 21, at Savannah. Dec. 31, Alumni, here; Jan. 7, Adario, here; Jan. 14, at Shiloh; Jan. 21, at New Haven; Jan. 28, Plymouth, here. Feb. 4, at North Fairfield; Feb. 11, Adario, here; Feb. 18, Shiloh, here.

NEW LEAGUE FORMED

WOOSTER—(AP)—High school basketball boasted a new loop today—the Central Buckeye league—composed of Wooster, Orrville, Millersburg, Rittman and Loudonville high schools.

ADAMICK WINS AGAIN

DETROIT—Jimmy Adamick, 190, knocked out Maxie Rosenbloom, 185, Los Angeles (2).

BARTH OUTPOINTS ROWSEY

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Carmen Barth, Jr., Cleveland, outpointed Frank Rowsey, 170, Montana, (10).

Bob Selby May End Career on Purdue Bench.

Whether Bob Selby, Mansfield halfback, would be able to appear in the Purdue lineup today for the final game of the season with Indiana was doubtful, according to dispatches from Lafayette, Ind. Selby, whose entire collegiate career was marred by injuries, suffered his second leg injury this season in last week's game against Wisconsin.

The former Tyger was kept on the bench for several weeks earlier this season because of a leg hurt, and it was reported today that the recent injury is expected to keep him on the bench today. Selby started the Wisconsin game, but was forced to leave early due to the injury.

Chinese Grunt Star On Card

Lee Yat Wing Faces Cowboy on Monday's Bill.

With the signing of two more rated stars of the mat world, including the only Chinese matman now in this country, next Monday night's wrestling program scheduled for the Armory was brought to completion today by Matchmaker Tim Nolan of the Quality club.

The Chinese wrestler is Lee Yat Wing of Hong Kong, China, and his opponent is "Cowboy" Jack Purdin of Tombstone, Ariz., a "shur-nuff cowboy" to use one of his own phrases.

The double main event will bring together four lightheavyweights in tournament matches.

In one of these, Walter Stratton, powerful little farmer from Leetonia, will meet Walter "Sneeze" Achiu of Honolulu, while in the other, Bobby Blake, bounding blond from Columbus, will tangle with Pete Sherman of Kansas City.

Rams Win Mid-State Title, Share of State "B" Honors

Madison High Registers Fourth Championship In Five Years by Defeating Mt. Gilead, 19-14, on Snow-Covered Gridiron.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor

MANSFIELD Madison high school's plucky band of green-shirted Rams dug mud cleats deeply into the snow-covered sod at Mt. Gilead Friday afternoon to file one of the few legitimate claims for the Class B football championship of Ohio.

In defeating a heavier Mt. Gilead pigskin aggregation, 19 to 14, Madison not only put in a bid for state honors, but cinched the fourth championship of the five-year-old Mid-State league.

Despite adverse playing conditions, Coach Al Fendrick's Rams proved their right to the title by conquering the strongest foe on their schedule.

Although trailing 8 to 7 at the intermission, Madison never once admitted defeat, and it came back with two rapid scoring thrusts in the third period to cinch a decisive triumph over an opponent defeated only by Bucyrus.

Stopping almost completely the heralded Gale Weller, the Rams, ler, held the edge in virtually every department to hang up their eighth triumph in as many games.

Tie for Scoring Lead.

Not only was the league championship at stake in Friday's embroglio, but also the individual scoring title. The latter race ended in a deadlock with Gene Harmon of Madison and Weller of Mt. Gilead sharing the crown.

The slippery Harmon scored two touchdowns and a conversion to bring his total for the season to 66 points, and the brilliant 190-pound Weller tallied twice on running plays to earn a tie for the individual scoring laurels.

Incidentally, the touchdowns scored by Weller are the only ones registered against the Rams on running plays. The other three touchdowns tallied against Madison this season were hung up via the air route.

While Harmon and Miller were outstanding in the backfield for Madison, the Mansfield team's line produced stellar performers in Jack Priess, Bill Wilkins, Harold Au and Bob Wilkins. In addition to taking care of his duties at an end, Bill Wilkins did most of the punting to drive back the Indians constantly.

After a scoreless first period in which Mt. Gilead was offered a brilliant scoring opportunity by blocking one of Harmon's kicks, Madison took advantage of a fumble recovery by Bob Wilkins to score the first touchdown.

Score Through Tackle.

Wilkins recovered the bobble on the Madison 41, and Harmon, on the first play, raced outside of tackle to the hosts' 34 for a 25 yard gain. A push pass, good for 12 yards, from Harmon to Bill Wilkins, figured in the unhalted drive which Harmon climaxed with a drive off tackle to score from the three. Harmon run across the point to give Madison a 7 to 0 advantage.

Neither team threatened again until late in the second period when Dick Blaney recovered Harmon's fumble in midfield. The Indians drove straight down the field to the nine, a pass from Francis Kubbs to Dick Talmadge landing the pigskin within the 10.

On the next play, Weller, although apparently as confused as the Rams, scored on a wide sweep to his right after some hesitation. Whether the confusion was created by a mistake in signals is questionable.

However, Weller, whether the ball was intended for him or not, immediately sensed the situation, and out-raced the bewildered Rams across the goal. Weller's attempt to buck across the point failed.

In the last minute of play, Talmadge blocked his second punt of the afternoon, and Gerald Hershey was tackled in the end zone with the bounding oval to give the Indians a safety and an 8 to 7 advantage.

Madison put the decision on ice in the early minutes of the third period. The quarter had hardly opened when Capt. Bill Moritz recovered a fumble on the Mt. Gilead 29. A play by Miller through tackle picked up three yards, and then the diminutive Hershey cut through center, breezed past a flock of secondary blockers and then cut back to score standing up. Miller's attempted plunge for the point failed, but the Indians never threatened to overtake the Rams.

Runs 52 Yards.

On the first play after the following kick-off, the fleet-footed Harmon intercepted a pass in near midfield, and, behind perfect blocking, ran 52 yards through the entire Mt. Gilead eleven to score the final points for the Rams.

The final Mt. Gilead touchdown came in the last minute of the game after the hosts took possession of the ball on a downed punt on the Madison 36. Weller bucked over from the one-yard line.

Although Weller scored both touchdowns, Kubbs was the most effective ball carrier for Coach Carl Hopkins' Indians, with Talmadge playing a sensational game in the line.

In addition to Madison, the only undefeated, untied Class B teams in Ohio are Upper Arlington, Granville, Bergholz, Liberty Center and Oxford McGuffey.

About 1,000 frozen fans witnessed the game.

Opens Season With Victory

Lucas Cagers Turn Back Union, 33 to 27.

Lucas high school's cagers opened their Richland county league season in an auspicious manner last night to turn back Union, formerly Weller, 33 to 27, on the losers' court.

Coach Gil Weikert's men gained the lead in the second period, and were never threatened. The superior height of the Lucasmen was an important factor in the triumph.

After Union jumped into an 8-7 lead in the first period, Lucas came back to obtain a 17-10 advantage at the half. The Lucasites continued to add to their lead in the next frame to go into the fourth period holding a 24 to 14 lead.

Bob Crawford was a particular menace, especially around the backboard. Scoring frequently on rebounds, Crawford led Lucas with 17 points. His teammate, Tom Greulich, controlled 11 points. Tolles paced the losers with 15 points.

THEATER

THIS AND THAT. House Peters, one time big star of silent pictures, now lives a hermit like life in Big Bear Valley, occasionally dropping into a studio to talk to an old friend . . . Ribbers find Fred Allen a most unsatisfactory victim. The other day on the "Sally, Irene and Mary" set, he took out his gum and parked it on a piece of paper when he went before the cameras, picking it up again when he came back. He never blinked an eyelid when he realized that the ribbers had exchanged the gum for a piece of putty, but kept right on chewing . . . Alice White, former top notch star, is objecting to doing a picture with Judith Allen because of too much of the wrong kind of publicity which Judith received in the Dephine Dodge-Jack Doyle-Judith Allen suit . . .

"Perfect Specimen."

The Errol Flynn-Joan Blondell picture, "The Perfect Specimen," opening with a midnight show at the Ohio tonight, will be shown there through Tuesday only, a new bill being scheduled for Wednesday and the remainder of the week. The story of "Perfect Specimen" revolves around a handsome and wealthy chap who had been raised by his grandmother and who has everything to make him the answer to a gal's prayers, but who had never known any woman but his grandmother. Hearing of this perfect specimen from her mother, Miss Blondell goes to investigate for herself and introduces him to life outside his estate. The cast includes Hugh Herbert. Allen Jenkins, Edward Everett Horton, May Robson and others. An interesting feature on the Ohio bill is "The Man Without A Country," a color picture with John Litel, who did a creditable piece of work as Patrick Henry in the historical short "Give Me Liberty" some time ago.

* * *

"Second Honeymoon."

Loretta Young and Tyrone Power, romantic team off and on the screen, are seen in "Second Honeymoon," which the Madison offers the first half of the week. In their support are Stuart Erwin, Claire Trevor and Lyle Talbot. The picture was inspired by Philip Wylie's Red Book magazine story and deals with a divorced couple who meet again in Miami after the wife has married a prosaic sort of chap. Power entertains his former wife and her current husband on his yacht and a series of complications ensue as the couple find themselves falling in love again. The title gives an idea of how the picture ends. It is booked to be shown through Wednesday.

"Hideaway."

Fred Stone is a shiftless but lovable old squatter in "Hideaway," the Majestic feature for Sunday and Monday, and he happens to "squat" on a cabin on the farm of a notorious gangster. When the owner and his henchmen come there to hide out until they can throw officers off the trail, things begin to happen in the old squatter's life. A romance between his daughter and a forest ranger gives the story heart interest. Emma Funn and Marjorie Lord have important roles. Larry Blake, who made his appearance in "The Road Back," and a cast of youthful players are seen in "Trouble At Midnight."

"Wee Willie Winkie."

The talents of the late Rudyard Kipling and Shirley Temple are combined to make "Wee Willie Winkie" good screen entertainment. Kipling's story of the little girl who came to live with a stern grandfather in the English barracks at Rajpore, India, and who played an important part in making peace between the garrison and the native ruler, is a tailor made vehicle for the little actress. Victor McLaglen, J. Aubrey Smith, June Lang, Cesar Romero and Michael Whalen play major roles. It opens Sunday at the Ritz for a two-day showing.

Betty Boop In Person.

Little Miss Ann Little, the original "sound effect" behind the famous Betty Boop cartoons, will be presented at the Graystone night club for a week, beginning Monday night. Miss Little is on a personal appearance tour through the courtesy of the Max Fleischer Studios where the Paramount cartoon pictures of Betty Boop are made. Her act is a novel one, showing how the cartoon is made.

RECEIVE $4,680 IN LICENSE FEES

City and County Get Final Share of 1936 Motor Vehicle Fund.

Mansfield and Richland county today received $4,680 for road and street purposes in the final distribution of 1936 motor vehicle registration fees by the state.

The amount boosted the total funds for the year to $168,508, Deputy Auditor Authur S. Beck said. In the distribution by the auditor, $484 will go to Mansfield, $1,693 to the county and the remainder to the villages and townships.

Three distributions of 1937 license fees have already been made by the state, with Richland county receiving $139,208.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORIUM—In loving memory of my dear husband (Mack) Albert A. McCallister, who passed away one year ago tomorrow, Nov. 21, 1936. Gone is the face we loved so dear, silent is the voice we loved to hear. Too far away for sight or speech, but not too far for thought to reach, sweet to remember him who once was here, and who, though absent, is just as dear.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—To Have and to Hold. By Harold Gray

SAINTS ABOVE! LOOK! SERGEANT! QUICK-HELP ME GRAB HIM!
IT'S HIM! THAT GUY BLABBLE! BUT WHAT'S HOLDIN' HIM?
IS HE GONE BATTY?
ANY BIRD MUST BE OFF HIS NUT TO FIGGER HE CAN GIT AWAY WIT' COLD-BLOODED MOIDER-
ALL HE KEEPS MUMBLIN' IS--"GHOSTS--- SPIRITS--- SPOOKS"--AN' THEN HE SWEARS HORRIBLE!
BUT "THEY" HELD HIM--- WERE THEY REAL SPIRITS? THEN THERE ARE REAL GHOSTS?
HM-M- THINGS ARE AS WE WISH TO BELIEVE THEY ARE, MY CHILD- PERHAPS BLABBLE HYPNOTIZED HIMSELF- WHO CAN SAY?
WELL- ONE THING SURE- TH' COPS HAVE GOT HIM- HE'LL GET HIS NOW-
HM-M—YES- I THINK SO- BUT I'M AFRAID IT'S STILL NOT SO SIMPLE AS YOU THINK- YOU FORGET THE CRIMINAL LAWYERS-

THE NEBBS—Who Robbed Bruce? By Sol Hess

HELLO, YOU LUCKY GIRL... GOT YOUR BONDS BACK, DIDN'T YOU?
YES, I GOT 'EM BACK BUT IF YOU KNOWED ALL THE NIGHTS THAT HAD NO SLEEP IN 'EM FER ME YOU WOULDN'T CALL ME SO LUCKY!
I'M SORRY- I WAS MAD AT YOU FOR TELLING ME THE TRUTH ABOUT BRUCE BUT I LOVED HIM SO MUCH I DIDN'T WANT TO HEAR NOTHIN' BAD ABOUT HIM- THANKS FOR ROBBING MY BONDS BACK
ME? I HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH IT!!
I MAY HAVE DONE A LOT OF THINGS IN MY LIFE BUT IT DOESN'T INCLUDE HOLDUPS SO DON'T LAY THAT AT MY DOOR
I AIN'T GOIN' TO SAY NOTHIN' MORE ABOUT IT- YOU NEEDN'T BE AFRAID OF GETTING ARRESTED BECAUSE I'M GOIN' TO KEEP THE IDEA HID IN MY HEAD

DIXIE DUGAN—Snobbish. By J. P. McEvoy and J. H. Striebel

MY LIFE HAS BEEN MISERABLE EVER SINCE THAT DUGAN GIRL STARTED WORKING FOR MOTHER
MOTHER SIMPLY ADORES HER!— LOOK AT THEM— THEY MAKE ..... ME .... SICK
HMPH — SHE'S EVEN CHANGED STEVE FROM A SOCIETY PLAY-BOY TO A REGULAR COUNTRY BOY
AND NOW SHE HAS MY SON SO HE WANTS TO GO TO A REGULAR SCHOOL AND PLAY WITH CHILDREN, WHEN I HAD HIM ALL TO MYSELF!
(GASP) I HATE HER (GASP)

BRICK BRADFORD—Adrift in an Atom. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

BRICK, I'VE GOOD NEWS! I'LL SOON HAVE DEVELOPED ENOUGH J-RAY MATERIAL FOR US TO START BACK TO OUR WORLD- WHAT'S WORRYING YOU, BOY?
THIS! BEFORE WE GO BACK I OUGHT TO MAKE ONE MORE ATTEMPT TO FIND EGO!
I KNOW THAT, BECAUSE OF HIS VILLAINIES, HE DESERVES NO CONSIDERATION BUT, AFTER ALL, WE CAN'T LEAVE A FELLOW-MAN OF OUR WORLD MAROONED IN THIS ATOM!
I'M GOING TO ASK OLD KODA NOW IF I CAN HAVE A SHIP IN WHICH TO SEARCH FOR EGO!

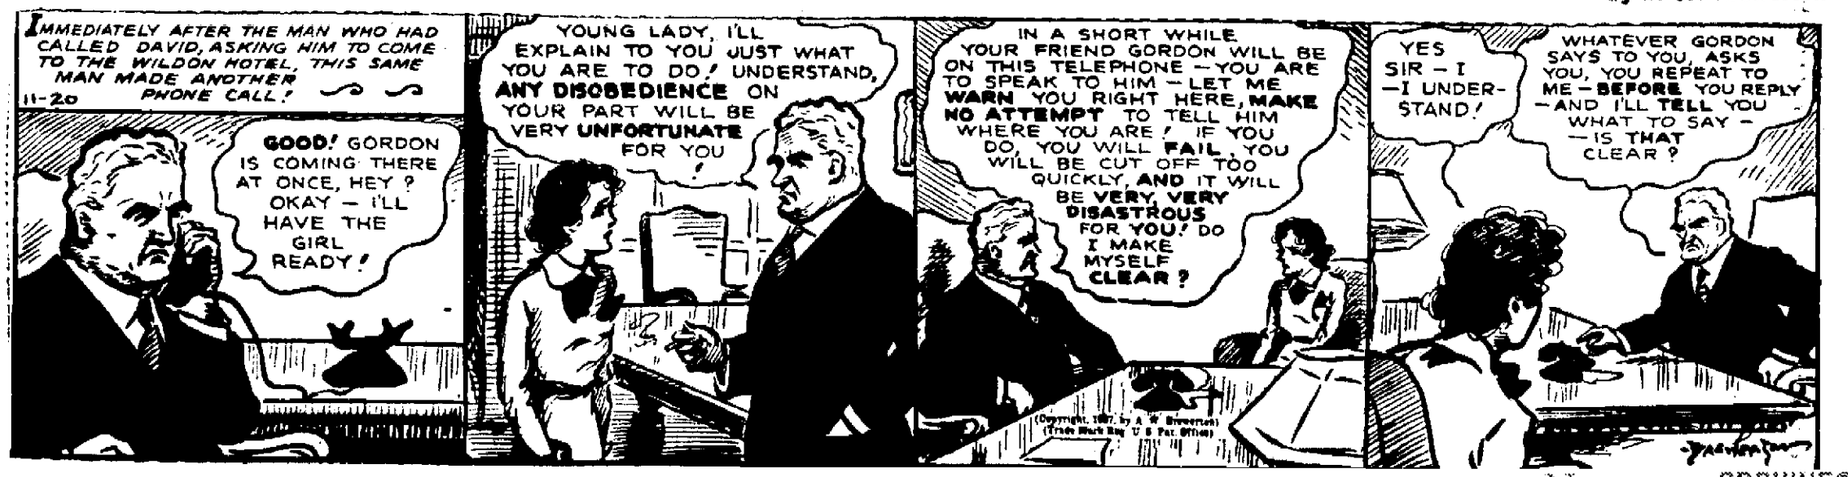
PAM—Instructions! By A. W. Brewerton



IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE MAN WHO HAD CALLED DAVID, ASKING HIM TO COME TO THE WILDON HOTEL, THIS SAME MAN MADE ANOTHER PHONE CALL!
11-20
GOOD! GORDON IS COMING THERE AT ONCE, HEY? OKAY — I'LL HAVE THE GIRL READY!
YOUNG LADY, I'LL EXPLAIN TO YOU JUST WHAT YOU ARE TO DO! UNDERSTAND, ANY DISOBEDIENCE ON YOUR PART WILL BE VERY UNFORTUNATE FOR YOU!
IN A SHORT WHILE YOUR FRIEND GORDON WILL BE ON THIS TELEPHONE — YOU ARE TO SPEAK TO HIM — LET ME WARN YOU RIGHT HERE, MAKE NO ATTEMPT TO TELL HIM WHERE YOU ARE! IF YOU DO, YOU WILL FAIL, YOU WILL BE CUT OFF TOO QUICKLY, AND IT WILL BE VERY, VERY DISASTROUS FOR YOU! DO I MAKE MYSELF CLEAR?
YES SIR — I —I UNDERSTAND!
WHATEVER GORDON SAYS TO YOU, ASKS YOU, YOU REPEAT TO ME — BEFORE YOU REPLY — AND I'LL TELL YOU WHAT TO SAY — — IS THAT CLEAR?

DECLINES RULE EARLY TRADING ON STOCK MART

Observers Expect Expansion In Output of Consumers' Goods Industries.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Declines of fractions to a point or more ruled in today's early stock market proceedings.

Searching for a ray of light in cloudy business skies, observers expressed the opinion a modest expansion in output of several consumers' goods industries is likely after the turn of the year, owing to the fact heavy inventories probably will be well liquidated by that time.

In the textile field, it was pointed out, production in some branches has been cut to the lowest leven since 1935, and equally drastic curtailment was said to be under way in rubber tire factories.

FUGITIVE HELD

Convict Who Fled Ohio Pen In 1933 Jailed In Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— William H. Gibson, 34, identified by Chief of Pittsburgh Detectives Walter Monaghan as a fugitive from Ohio state reformatory since 1933, occupied a jail cell today.

Monaghan and a squad of men arrested Gibson, a former resident of Butler, Pa., on a downtown street last night.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON—(AP)—(U. S. Dept. of Agr.)—A few woolen manufacturers selected samples suitable for their needs more freely yesterday but made no commitment as to prices they were willing to pay for sizable lines.

Little interest was shown by worsted manufacturers in greasy wools. Immediate needs were filled by purchases of small quantities of wool tops which were quoted relatively lower than greasy combing wools of similar grades.

BRITISH INVITE NAZI MINISTER

Foreign Chief to be Guest in England; Halifax Sees Hitler.

BERLIN—(AP)—An official invitation to Baron Konstantin Von Neurath, Germany's foreign minister, to visit England was announced today. No date was set.

This was generally considered the one concrete result of the "unofficial" visit to Germany of Viscount Halifax, Britain's lord president of the council, who yesterday spent five hours with Chancellor Adolf Hitler at Berchtesgaden, discussing Anglo-German relations.

It was announced that Lord Halifax would leave for London tomorrow, according to his original schedule.

AGENTS SMASH NARCOTIC RING

$775,000 Yearly Business Broken As Federal Men Strike.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., said today that treasury agents have smashed a wide-spread narcotics ring which was doing three-quarters of a million dollars of business annually.

Included among prisoners arrested in New York was Mary Debello Pennochio and Vita Pennochio, wife and brother of Tommy (The Bull) Pennochio, a member of the "Lucky" Luciano gang.

Seventeen importers and large scale dealers in illicit drugs were arrested, Morgenthau's announcement said.

FUND GOAL EXCEEDED

BRUSSELS — (AP) — The prospective absence of leading delegates of Britain, France and the Soviet Union lent emphasis today to a widespread belief that the Far Eastern peace conference would reach an ineffectual finale on Monday.

It was widely believed there would be no concrete decision on China's plea for material aid and economic pressure on Japan.

A decision by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden not to return for the resumption of negotiations after a week-long recess, was ascribed in British quarters here to a cold he caught in Brussels last week-end.

HOLD MOTHER IN DEATH OF MATE

Police File Murder Charge After Husband Dies of Shot Wounds.

NASHUA, N. H.—(U.P.)—A mother of two children allegedly stabbed her husband to death with a paring knife after an argument at their home today.

Mrs. Grace Davidson, 31, was charged with first-degree murder after police said she confessed to the attack of her 35-year-old husband Edgar, a factory worker.

Mrs. Davidson did not learn of his death until about seven hours later when a police matron brought the news to her cell.

When told that she had inflicted a mortal wound, she became hysterical and a doctor was summoned.

BOARD MEMBER INDICTED

IRONTON — (AP) — Charles Swope, Elizabeth township school board member, was indicted today on a manslaughter charge in the death of Charles Donohue, another board member, by the Lawrence county grand jury.

STRIKERS LEAVE AKRON PLANTS

Martin To Address Pontiac Strikers.

PONTIAC, Mich.—(AP)—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, headed for Pontiac today to address strikers who have disregarded the exhortations of their officers to withdraw from the Fisher Body corporation plant here.

Martin, announcing in Chicago last night his intention of coming here, did not say what stand he would take when appearing before the strikers. Neither did he know what time he would make his visit.

He already was scheduled to address an afternoon UAWA meeting at Flint. His supporters there said his purpose would be to close a breach in the ranks of the Flint local, one of the two largest in the international union.

The Fisher strikers have held the local plant since Wednesday night, about 450 of them dividing into three shifts, coming and going much as if they were working. The sit-down brought idleness to almost 15,000 General Motors corporation workers in the Fisher and Pontiac Motor Car divisions here.

THE STATE vs. ELNA JEPSON

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

(Copyright 1937)

CHAPTER XX

Greta did not wake up. It was so long ago that in her daily rounds Mrs. Nielsen seldom thought of her now. Then out of the dark had come a girl with Greta's wide brow and with eyes half-mad with terror, a girl whom she tucked into bed. Never for a minute afterwards did she think of Elna as a suspected murderess. She was Greta returned. But Mrs. Nielsen's lonely heart was richly filled. She must do all for Elna that she would have done for Greta.

A gentle snore like a breeze slipping through trees wafted from the matron's bed.

* * *

Mrs. Gorham, the day matron, banged a huge key on the gray-painted door.

"Get up!" she shouted "And what are you doing, pattering around out of hours?" she said to Elna.

"I came in last night. I did not know. I'm sorry; it won't happen again." Elna said

"Well, you needn't be so hoity-toity about it. A murderer is just the same here as any one else, Elna, isn't she, girls?"

An obsequious giggle from wiggling heads, glad of the extra minutes to loll in bed, greeted this sally.

Elna's face went blank with surprise.

"Oh, so you thought we didn't know you are a murderer. Well, there's a book downstairs, you know."

"Oh, now," Elna answered in a conversational voice, "I naturally assumed the records were open to you. It is only that my first name is used only by those who know me well."

* * *

Little red spots broke out on the matron's sallow cheeks. She was antagonized by the formal wording of Elna's first apology, and intended to "put her in her place." All the girls were called by their first names—why should this one turn Emily Post on her, act high-hat?

"You will find society customs different here. Get back to your bed, Elna," she said. The last word carried the sting of deliberate insult. Elna realized that she had made an enemy, but the reasons were not clear.

The big key opened the lock and Mrs. Gorham marched straight to Elna's bed. The covers were jerked to the foot of the bed. Elna had made one resolution. She would obey every rule, but she would betray no emotion to this woman. She rose, puzzled whether she was to make the the bed.

"Well, girls, will you look at this?" Mrs. Gorham's bellowing laughter brought the group clustering around the matron's outstretched fingers.

"Can you feature the thick stuff, and the long sleeves and the embroidered collar as the latest style for the aristocracy? Better give up your pretties, girls, with their low backs and no sleeves. Come over here, Vera, this is the way to catch the boys."

* * *

Although she was clad from head to foot, Elna felt a shivering nakedness. Unconsciously she turned to the redheaded girl addressed as Vera She was kneeling up in bed, her flimsy nightgown half down to her waist. Her brown eyes looked closely at Elna, standing stiff against the wall. She did not know what suffering had whitened her face, but she ventured a smile of pity, as if she were stroking a hurt cat.

Elna smiled back gratefully. Elna Jepson, the proud, the fastidious, the reserved, was grateful for the pity of one of the girls.

"The nightgown was hand-woven and hand-embroidered by my great-grandmother," Elna said pleasantly. "That is why I keep it. It is supposed to be very fine." It had suddenly occurred to her that the nightgown must not be traced to Mrs. Nielsen

"That's enough for the scarecrow. Scamper girls. Elna, get your dress on and your bed made." Mrs Gorham jangled her keys and left the room.

"Where does one dress, please?" Elna asked of the room at large. Unconsciously she looked to Vera, who came forward, trailing a dingy black chiffon dress half over her head. She sat on the bed and leaned forward The girls were still giggling at Elna's "one."

"Most of the girls won't like you," Vera said, "because they don't know that some high-hats are born that way and aren't showing off. And Gorham is down on you already. That's bad. Play pussycat with her. If you get in a jam, come to me. I get raided ever six months. But you're the kind that will probably have a swank mouthpiece and yank you out in no ime."

"I hope so," Elna answered. "but I could hardly meet even the swankiest mouthpiece in a nightgown. How does one dress?"

"Fix you in a jiffy." Vera leaped to the bottom of the bed, held out the covers as a tent and handed to Elna her garments, one by one. "There now," Vera whispered as the others giggled, "I'll make your bed. I can do it quicker, and I have a stand-in with Gorham, so she won't mind if mine's a bit so-so"

* * *

As Vera hurried away, the colored girl approached Elna. "Ma'am, could I speak to you?"

"Why, certainly," Elna's tone was the more cordial for the girls' intercepted looks across the room.

The colored girl's eyes were fixed on Elna's suit. "Lady, I got the most awful hang-over!" the girl pleaded "You got pockets. Could you maybe git me some aspirin?"

Elna sympathetically smiled. "I'll look. I think they searched me, but the—weapon was already supposed to be in the hands of the police They may not have been so careful."

Her fingers explored the many pockets of the suit. Her father had had it made for her in England. Perhaps the police had never before seen a skirt with a small flat pocket running down the seam. It had been a "joke" suit, her father had said, where she could carry anything and lose anything.

"There you are" She brought out the flat tin of aspirin. "You can keep it. I only had it because it came with the medical supplies, one time."

The girl rushed to the water fountain.

"Just has to have a personal maid and he called 'Miss'," sneered a shoplifter. The others giggled.

A dose of invective in their own language would have won them. Elna's throat caught.

"It was a mistake about the 'Miss'—I didn't know—it was just what I was used to. Please excuse my mistakes. I have not meant to offend any of you. I know now about being one of the girls. Please—can't we just be human and forget it?" she said.

"No!" boomed a voice from the corner, from a girl clad in striped slacks, her thick face top by tousled black hair. She was being held for investigation in connection with a recent bank holdup. "She's 'miss' to us girls. She ain't been in jail before. Well, she's been in plenty of night clubs, and I guess she'll find out just about every difference there is."

* * *

Mrs. Gorham made her banging entrance with a fresh roller towel over her arm. "Get to it, girls," she said. "Breakfast a half hour late this morning — bread ain't come." She had not bustled to the door before the stampede to the washbowl began. By some unwritten law the old woman vagrant, to whom jail was a haven whenever she was picked up off the street, was given first place.

We're Right and We're Wrong!

—A CORRECTION—

In our ad, Friday's News-Journal, Nov. 19th, there appeared a statement which may be misleading to a great many of our customers. The statement, "Bottle and Canned Beer, 10c" was incorrect. Though we have a great many bottled and canned beers that do sell for a dime, yet this particular statement could have been taken to apply to all beers, and we do have many brands which cannot sell for less than 15c each.

We trust this corrects this wrong statement.

Not That It Matters

—By JANE WILLIAMS

ONLY TO THE old timers did a news story this week come as a distinct shock when it was revealed that Mrs. Leslie Carter, glamorous figure of the American stage of the early part of the century, whose death occurred in California last week, were a wig.

Not an ordinary wig, but a $50,000 investment in gorgeous, flaming red gold that fell to the floor when she took out the diamond pins—as she always did in each of her plays.

Mrs. Carter was a symbol of an era that has passed. No more do critics go ga-ga over actresses, nor audiences rise en masse and shout their names until they graciously appear to blow kisses across the footlights.

When Mrs. Carter trailed across the stage with her burnt-orange hair piled high on her head, silken skirts a-rustle, a distinct electric shock went through the audience. Every word that she said thrilled her listeners and her every gesture held glamor.

* * *

HER own life was as dramatic and colorful as any of the ladies she played. A vivacious Southern girl, she married the wealthy Leslie Carter of Chicago in about 1880, and when she was little more than 17, after several unhappy years bought her freedom from him at the price of giving up her baby. Desperate for something to take her mind off her loss, she turned to the stage and her life crossed that of David Belasco, the great dramatist and producer.

He made her all that she ever was on the stage, starring her for years in such plays as "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," "Zaza," "Du Barry" and "La Tosca." In 1906 she married her leading man, Lou Payne—and in a long distance call from Belasco, broke a friendship of years. They never spoke or saw each other but once after that, and the break was a tragedy for both of them. In the later years of her stage career she was badly advised as to plays, appearing in such tripe as "Shanghai Gesture" and "Two Women."

It is interesting to Mansfielders that she was a ward of General and Mrs. W. T. Sherman and frequently called at the John Sherman home in Washington, D. C. Gen. Sherman was one of her guardians after the death of her father.

There still runs through my mind a belief that she had natural red hair, for in one of her memoirs, she said: "I inherited my bright red hair from my father."

But perhaps that was only a part of the Great Deception.

* * *

THE TAXI cab driver who drove me to the Dick Powell-Joan Blondell appointment in Cleveland the other day, expounded on females, beauteous and otherwise.

"There are no beautiful women, strictly speaking, in these days. Stop and think: when have you seen a really BEAUTIFUL woman? Pretty, maybe, but they all look exactly alike. And Sister, I should know; I guess I've taxied every stage and screen star and so-called beauty that has come to Cleveland in the last 30 years. Women used to have something besides flat faces, flat bosoms, flat hips and flat feet. They used to have eyebrows, too. They used to be dainty and feminine, or big and statuesque. Even little women aren't dainty these days, and women may be big, but they aren't statuesque. And they're either angular or they're fat. They don't have fascination. They're too frank. Men know all about 'em. Being a 'pal' has taken away their charm and glamor."

Which is the second time in two months that some man has told me What's Wrong With Us. Come to think of it, I can't think of any man that would just knock you unconscious with his manly beauty and charm. Good looking, maybe, but not "fascinatin' " as Mae West would say.

* * *

A HOLLYWOOD columnist this said that production on the Jeanette MacDonald picture, "Girl of the Golden West" is being held up because the action required a tame, trained squirrel, and said "there are no squirrel actors in Hollywood."

In the interests of truth it's fortunate he didn't say "squirrley."

* * *

THE NEWS-JOURNAL story on the death of Solomon Aby this week recalled the fact that he was the grandson of James Copus, early Richland county pioneer, who with five soldiers was murdered by Indians in a massacre at the Copus cabin in 1812.

It is interesting to note that Aby's mother was that same little Nancy Copus who, when her father opened the door of the cabin that terrifying morning more than a century ago to admit the last soldier, rushed to the opening with a little girl's curiosity to "see outside," and an Indian bullet found her. She was nursed back to health at the old block house in Mansfield's town square.

The most interesting spot in Richland county—for me—is the grave of Nancy's mother, in a little weed grown cemetery near Butler, for it lies on a hill overlooking the monument which marks the spot where her husband was killed and where her heart was buried many years before she herself came to rest on the hill above. I've secretly wondered sometimes if their spirits ever held a rendezvous in the valley that separates their graves.

FROM "First Offender" comes a Thanksgiving soliloquy which is done so much better than I could do it that I am passing it on to you as this column's Thanksgiving editorial. Can you, too, give thanks, humbly, for the same things?

"I am thankful that I have reached an age that I now have sense enough to admit that I have not acquired all the wisdom in the world, and that the man who disagrees with me may possibly be right about it. . . .

"I am thankful that I am just an average man—one who is not so bad as his enemies paint him, and one who does not possess all the virtues claimed for him by his friends, because otherwise, and in either case, I would be mighty poor company for myself. . . .

"I am thankful that I have passed the time when I feel the weight and responsibility of the world on my shoulders; that I can look at my own and my neighbor's mistakes without becoming sour and cynical; that I feel myself just as good as and no better than any other man on earth. . . . That I count my friend my friend no matter the horsepower of the machine he drives, the country he hails from, the language he speaks or the size of his bank account. . . .

"To sum it all up, I'm thankful I do not sit in the seat of the scornful, and that of all my Father's family, I do not love myself best."

France Moves to Stamp Out Conspiracy

MINISTRIES IN PARIS PLACED UNDER GUARD

Seizures of Bombs, Guns Lead to Widespread Search For Leaders of 'Plot.'

PARIS—(AP)—Buildings housing France's ministries were carefully guarded today as Premier Camille Chautemps and Minister of Interior Marx Dormoy broadened plans to crush a reported armed conspiracy against the "security of the state."

An inspector of the Surete Nationale linked two bombs seized in one of a three-week series of raids with a bomb found Sept. 27 in the home of Gen. Andre Pretalat, a member of France's superior war council.

Explosives experts at the time declared the bomb was constructed with materials regularly used by the French army.

The surete inspector said "I would swear" that the two bombs found in a Paris apartment early this week were "the same kind" as that discovered in the general's home. The inspector added they might be similar to bombs used to wreck two employers' federation buildings Sept. 11.

Flee From Police.

Streets near ministry buildings were watched closely after police were reported to have surprised four men inside the ministry of war on Wednesday night. The group escaped through a garden and scaled a wall.

The armed mobile guards posted around the government buildings permitted only officials or persons with passes to enter after nine o'clock at night.

Surete Nationale operatives pressed inquiries in several sections of Paris and the provinces. Although no new arms caches were discovered, surete officials declared the investigation would continue indefinitely, concentrated on "the men behind the plot and the origin of the money used to buy the guns."

Eight alleged underlings in the plot were known to have been imprisoned.

Large stores of arms and ammunitions, including anti-aircraft, anti-tank and even field guns—enough to equip a small army—have been discovered in about two score raids.

It has been an open secret in extreme rightist quarters that a national revolutionary committee had been formed from carefully chosen members of several political parties. It was said to be operating efficiently on a nationwide basis in pursuit of a definite military plan.

Up and Down THE STREET

Without funds to purchase equipment, the junior Y. M. C. A. rifle club started a search of the city today for old, worn-out guns which will be traded in on new guns for target shooting purposes at the indoor range at the 'Y.' A call to R. B. Chapman at the 'Y' will take your old guns off your hands.

Next year's Ohio auto license plates will have black letters on a white background, the Richland Auto club has been informed. But they will be distinguished by a covered wagon in black. This symbol is to commemorate the sesqui-centennial of the founding of the Northwest Territory which will be celebrated next year.

Christmas is five weeks away, but County Superintendent Boyd Robinson was Santa Claus by proxy yesterday to seven children of a Worthington township family. High-topped overshoes were purchased for the youngsters so they could walk a mile through a muddy lane to board a school bus. The father, called into court to explain why the children had been kept out of school, said they had no clothing for cold weather. The township school board arranged for the purchase of the garments.

Mansfield's police department is seriously considering the purchase of a special case in which they can place the bronze trophy that Patrolman O. D. Fair won for his marksmanship ability in the recent shoot staged here by the Ohio Brotherhood of Police Officers. The "coppers" have agreed that the 15-inch prize should not be allowed to stand around unprotected from the dust. At present the trophy is resting on a bookcase.

SURVEY SPURS CAMPAIGN TO AID BUSINESS

Sentiment Stimulates Demand For Immediate Action to Halt Recession.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— A poll disclosed today that more than one third of the senate favors immediate revision of the undistributed profits tax. It stimulated leaders of the aid-to business bloc to broaden their demands for legislation intended to stem the current business recession.

Leaders of the bloc added two objectives—legislation to lessen labor strife and to relax federal regulation of utilities—to their goal of tax revision. Senators Josiah W. Bailey, D., N. C., and Frederick Steiwer, R., Ore., sponsored these new proposals.

Asks Labor Action.

Bailey, declaring that factors in addition to the profits tax had caused the business slump, called for congressional action to end the strife among the rival unions of the A. F. of L. and the CIO and to prevent illegal strikes.

Steiwer said that the labor situation in the west had been one of the important factors in hindering business and that action should be taken to force unions to accept adjudication of their quarrels. He said that a modified form of the proposed "Little TVA" bill might be feasible but that there should be an end to governmental "tinkering" with the currency and a relaxation of regulation of utilities.

Meanwhile, following President Roosevelt's order for an investigation of monopoly by the federal trade commission, Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., said it was "absurd" that our economic system should "go into a tailspin when a few men in the financial circles of New York City get the jitters."

Hits 'Excessive' Power.

In a radio address last night, O'Mahoney, who split with the administration last session on the court reorganization bill, diagnosed the current trouble as "economic concentration," or "too much power . . . . in too few hands." He asked for federal control of private corporations through a "system of national charters," so that the purposes of the Sherman anti-trust law may no longer be defeated by monopolists.

The possibility of tax action at the special session continued doubtful in view of the difficulties of preparing amendments and the administration's opposition.

Both of Ohio's senators, Robert J. Bulkley and Vic Donahey, were among those favoring repeal.

RE-ELECT AUTO CLUB OFFICERS

Directors Again Name Stander President and Beverstock as Secretary-Manager.

The board of directors of the Richland County Automobile club, which met last night following the annual banquet meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, re-elected all the officers of the organization.

Carl H. Stander, who has served as president continuously since 1930, was returned to that office. Frank Beverstock, secretary-manager of the club was renamed for the 19th consecutive year. He was first appointed on Aug. 10, 1919.

Other officers re-elected were Dr. J. P. Stober, Lexington, vice president; Harry Sotzen, Shelby, second vice president; and John Pierce, treasurer. At the annual meeting of the club members last night, the present directors were re-elected, with Dr. W. B. Buker, Bellville, being chosen to fill the place left vacant by the late Edwin D. Ford. Jack Berger was named assistant to Beverstock.

Approximately 200 persons attended the banquet. Fred Beach, a member of the club and former Mansfield resident now residing in Bay Village, served as toastmaster, with Major Norman Imrie, editorial writer of the Columbus Dispatch as the speaker.

In his report, Beverstock said the Auto club had a membership of 1,574 this year as compared with 1,394 in 1936. He also reported that 17,920 drivers licenses for passenger cars had been issued since October, and 14,700 passenger car licenses had been issued since the beginning of the fiscal year, April 1.

After the business session, Westinghouse employes presented a floor show. The Westinghouse orchestra under the direction of R. O. Richards played throughout the dinner. J. Gilbert Baird served as master of ceremonies, and introduced the performers, a trio of girl harmonizers, Jane Weuthrick, Dorothy Clingan and Jane Cox; the Claypool Brothers, tap dancers; Mary Sabolick, Russian and skating dancer; Mike Bauderer, accordionist; Beatrice Kochenderfer, blues singer, and Henry Long, soloist with the band.

MEET AT GALION

District Funeral Directors to Hold Next Session in Mansfield.

About 25 members of District No. 2 of the Ohio State Funeral Directors association attended the quarterly meeting of the group held last night in Galion.

Following routine business, a program of entertainment was presented. Harold Denzer of Marion, district president, presided. The next quarterly meeting will be held in Mansfield.

John Finefrock was the only member of the association present from Mansfield.

INJURIES FATAL

Willard Man, Hurt In Traffic Accident Last Week, Dies.

WILLARD—Francis Cross, 24, operator of a Willard filling station, died late Friday in City hospital in Bucyrus from injuries suffered in an auto accident east of Bucyrus last Sunday in which his father, step-mother, the third occupant of the car is in the hospital with two fractured legs, a broken arm and fractured hip.

Mr. Cross, who was driving the car when it struck a Pennsylvania freight train, was apparently recovering from chest injuries when he suffered a relapse early Friday morning.

He is survived by a sister, Hazel at home and two brothers, Chester and Russell of Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Fink funeral home where it will remain until time of funeral services at 2 p. m. Monday at the Trinity Lutheran church in charge of Rev. G. C. Heffelfinger. Burial will be made in the Willard cemetery.

ASHLAND WOMAN DIES AT AGE 52

Funeral Services for Mrs. Glessner to Be Held in Indiana.

ASHLAND—Mrs. Frank Glessner, 52, died Friday night at her home following a lingering illness.

Born in Indiana, Mrs. Glessner had been a resident of Ashland county for the past 15 years. She was a member of the New Holland, Ind., church, and a former member of the Eastern Star at Swazey, Ind.

Surviving besides her husband are two daughter, Mrs. Albert Harper of Ashland, and Mrs. Foster Boals of Mansfield; two sons, John at home, and Wayne of San Francisco; four brothers, and two sisters.

The body, at the Gilbert funeral home, will be sent to Huntington, Ind., tonight, where funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Luella Elliot of Ludlow Falls, Ind., an aunt of Mrs. Gessner, officiating. Burial will be at New Holland, Ind.

WITHDRAWS SUIT

Charles Sloan, Mansfield, today had withdrawn his $10,000 damage suit against the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company following a settlement effected out of court. The amount was not disclosed.

Sloan brought his action against the Baltimore and Ohio and Erie Railroad companies after he was injured at the North Mulberry street crossing last January. His rightleg was amputated as a result of the accident, which he contended was the result of the failure of the railroads to have warning signals in operation at the crossing.

600 BACK ON JOB

WEIRTON, W. Va.—(AP)—New orders which will step up production in the tin mill department at Weirton Steel Co., resulted today in the recall of 600 men recently laid off, T. E. Millsop, president, said.

of the youth's whereabouts reached Willard, a number of volunteer firemen returned to the city to enlist additional volunteers. Officers of the Sportsmen's league planned to confer on means of locating Buckingham.

The vast district which was combed by the searching parties is regarded as one of the most dangerous in the state, because of the unstable footing and the deep pits, left by burning muck and often covered with grass.

Men who returned to Willard following the all-night search reported finding footprints which led to one of the canals in which the water often is 10 feet deep. The searchers, however, were not convinced that the tracks were those of young Buckingham.

HEAD FOR HOME

Farm Bureau Delegates Ask Balanced Federal Budget.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Delegates to the Ohio Farm Bureau federation's 19th annual meeting packed their bags and departed for home today after adopting resolutions calling for a balanced federal budget and approving the "ever-normal granary" plan for farm stabilization.

"The time has now come when the federal government should take positive steps to balance its budget in order that confidence may be restored and recovery obtained on a sound basis," said the budget resolution.

Another said that "labor as well as agriculture must recognize that they cannot continue indefinitely to secure more for less through the shortening of hours and raising of wages or reducing production without considering the ability of the consuming public to absorb these added costs."

GUN INJURIES FATAL

BELLEFONTAINE, O.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Godwin, 29, died last night in a hospital of shotgun injuries, inflicted, Sheriff Jay McKeever of Champaign county said, by her estranged husband, Raymond, 44, Wednesday night. No charges were filed immediately.

400 EXPECTED

Westinghouse Employes to Stage Benefit Dance Tonight.

Approximately 200 couples are expected to attend the Thanksgiving benefit dance at the auditorium in the new Westinghouse plant tonight, which is being sponsored by the Employes Welfare association.

Employes of the plant are promoting the benefit and funds will be used for welfare work.

The new Westinghouse dance band, under the direction of R. O. Richards, will play for the dance, and J. Gilbert Baird will present a floor show of talent from the company's personnel.

Tickets for the dance will be sold at the door of the fifth floor auditorium tonight.

4 TRAFFIC LIGHTS ARRIVE FOR SUBWAY; START WORK NEXT WEEK

Installation of four traffic lights to regulate traffic at the hazardous intersection of Routes 30 and 42 just east of the subway on Park avenue east will be started Wednesday, Mayor Earl A. McFarland said today.

Four, new type flasher signals, which were purchased at the cost of $600 arrived today and the installation will be started "just as soon as City Electrician Ernest Adams can get on the job."

The signals are of the two bulb type that change without the amber light. Before a change the red light flashes several times as a warning to the motorist.

Plans call for the installation of a signal at each end of the subway and two others at the intersection of the two routes east of the subway. One light on a seven-foot steel post located on the island will direct westbound traffic on route 30, another erected on a utility pole will regulate westbound traffic on route 42 while the lights at both ends of the underpass will regulate eastbound cars on both routes 30 and 42.

City Electrician Ernest Adams explained that the light at the west end of the subway would be set at an angle so it could be seen by autoists approaching the intersection from the Park avenue east hill.

"This arrangement will warn motorists approaching the underpass from the hill, especially in the winter when the hill might be icy," Adams said. "It will give them a chance to slow up before coming to the subway."

The system, it is hoped, will eliminate the congestion at the intersection where westbound traffic on Route 30 is often jammed because of the heavy travel on Route 42.

JAIL SUSPECT IN $3 HOLD-UP

Police Capture Man With Gun After Half Hour Hunt.

Captured by police in less than 30 minutes after he allegedly pulled a $3 stick-up, James McGhee, colored, of the rear of 250 North Franklin avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons when arraigned in municipal court this morning and was bound over to the grand jury under $1,500 bond.

McGhee was arrested by Lieut. Paul Whipp and Patrolman Russell Miles on East Sixth street last night less than 30 minutes after he had allegedly held up and robbed Robert Jones, 116 Lily street of $3. They said he had a loaded 38 caliber revolver stuck in his waist.

Jones, police said, identified McGhee as the man who had stopped him at the point of a gun while he was walking on North Franklin street.

JOIN THURSDAY IN THANKSGIVING OBSERVANCE

Congregations to Give Thanks at Union Services at Three Churches.

Thanksgiving day, first set aside as a day of prayer and thanks by the nation's forefathers in 1623, will be observed throughout the country next Thursday in churches and private homes.

In commemoration of the day, special union and individual Thanksgiving services will be held Wednesday night and Thursday in Mansfield churches.

Union services will be conducted at St. Luke's Lutheran church, First Presbyterian church, and the Central Methodist church, while St. John's Evangelical and the South Main Street Evangelical will have their observances.

Six congregations will unite for a Thanksgiving service at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in the First Presbyterian church. Taking part in this service will be members of the First Presbyterian, First Congregational, First Christian, First Methodist, United Presbyterian, and the United Brethren churches.

Rev. Corwin to Preach.

Rev. E. G. Corwin, First Methodist pastor, will preach on the subject, "Thanksgiving Meditations." The senior choir of the First Presbyterian church will sing the anthem, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," by Gainer.

A quartet comprised of Mrs. C. O. Anglin, Miss Jane Weuthrick, Leo Hans, and Paul N. Watts, will sing "Listen to the Lark," by Dickinson. Mrs. A. L. Twitchell, organist, will present two numbers, "The Bells of St. Anne de Beaupre," by Russell, and "Postlude in B," by West.

Another union church service will be held at 10 a. m. Thanksgiving day in the Central Methodist church. Taking part in this service will be the congregations of St. Matthew's Lutheran, Park Avenue Baptist, and the Central M. E. churches. Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will deliver the sermon.

Service at St. Luke's.

The third union service is set for St. Luke's Lutheran church Thanksgiving morning with members of that church and St. Paul's Lutheran taking part.

Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of St. Paul's, will have as his sermon topic, "The Heart of a Thankful Man." The choir of St. Luke's church will furnish the music. The service will begin at 10 a. m.

The annual Thanksgiving service of the First Presbyterian church will be held Sunday morning during the regular church service at 10:30. Rev. David N. Roller, pastor, will preach on the subject, "Let Us Launch Another Mayflower."

The senior choir under the direction of Mrs. Anglin, will sing "O Lord, How Manifold," by Rogers. Paul N. Watts will sing as a vocal solo for the offertory, "The Publican," by DeWater. Mrs. Twitchell, organist, will play as her prelude, "A. D. 1620," by MacDowell, and the postlude, "Festival Postlude," by Schninke.

Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent of the Mansfield General hospital, will be guest speaker at the Thanksgiving day service at 10 a. m. at St. John's Evangelical church.

The South Main Street Evangelical church will hold its Thanksgiving observance at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. This service will take the place of the regular weekly prayer meeting.

NAMED AGAIN

Stough Re-elected Trustee of State Farm Bureau.

W. E. Stough of Springfield township was re-elected state farm bureau trustee from the seventh district at the state convention which closed last night in Columbus. The district includes Richland, Crawford, Marion and Morrow counties.

Vance Clever, manager of the Richland county farm bureau, estimated that 80 members from the county attended the state meet. Delegates were Miss Mary Gramly, Weller township; J. R. Lawrence, Washington township; L. R. Rinehart, Springfield township, and Mrs. George Arter, Sandusky township. Miss Gramly was a member of the resolutions committee.

Four Richland countians sang in the all-state choir of 700 voices which provided entertainment during the sessions. They were Mrs. S. M. Mishey and Miss Ruth Palm of Lexington; A. E. Pugh, Weller township, and Avery Hale, Mifflin township.

'SOUL AND BODY'

That's Subject of Scientists' Lesson-Sermon Tomorrow.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him" (Psalms 62:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For we walk by faith, not by sight . . . We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord" (II Corinthians 5:7,8).

PLAY CONTINUES

Duplicate Bridge Tournaments to Be Held Throughout Winter.

ORGAN PROGRAM

Baptist Music Director Will Play For Sunday Service.

A special program of organ music will be presented during the worship service Sunday morning at the Park Avenue Baptist church by Lawrence S. Frank, minister of music.

His selections will include "Andante" from "Orseo," by Gluck, "Fugue in G Major," by Bach, and a medley of favorite hymns. The choir will sing Rachmaninoff's "Triumph—Thanksgiving."

Rev. Hayes M. Braker, the pastor, will preach on the subject, "Making an Exception of Myself." The service begins at 10:30 a. m.

The congregation will unite with members of St. Matthew's Lutheran and Central Methodist churches, at the Central church, at 10 a. m. Thanksgiving Day for a community service. Rev. Braker will speak.

GIVE PROGRAM AT M. E. CHURCH

50 Simpson Students to Present Thanksgiving Songs Sunday.

Fifty boys and girls, all members of the music classes of Miss Fannie Lew Eiler at John Simpson Junior high school, will present a special program of Thanksgiving songs at 9:15 a. m. Sunday during the Sunday school hour at the Central Methodist Episcopal church.

The group will sing, "Netherland Thanksgiving Hymn," "Come Ye Thankful People," by Elzey, and "Lo I Shall Never Want," by Bortniansky. Ada Mae Harbaugh, a member of the music group, will sing as a vocal solo, "Great Is Thy Love," by Bohm.

Miss Eiler will direct the group, and Lawrence S. Frank, music instructor at the school, will accompany the group.

UNFALTERING SERVICE

THANKSGIVING

On this special day, set aside so that man might be mindful of the benefits he has enjoyed, we express our thanks to the families of this community for the trust and confidence they have imposed in us. We will endeavor, at all times, to merit this trust and confidence by adequately fulfilling our just duty—for, after all, "life's truest joy dwells in duty done."

The annual men's service at the First Lutheran church will be held Sunday evening at 7:30 with Dr. C. G. Shatzer, dean of Wittenberg college, Springfield, as the speaker. His subject will be "John Smith, American Citizen."

The entire service will be in charge of the men of the church and is being held in conjunction with the annual every member visitation which will be conducted by the men Sunday afternoon.

Arrangements for the service are in charge of George Smith, president of the brotherhood, and Walter McAninch, Glenn Bierly, Glenn Davidson, George Hoover, and Dr W. H. Wolford.

BATES SPEAKS AT MEETING OF YOUTH FORUM

Newly Organized Group From 6 Churches to Hold First Session Tomorrow.

Chief of Police Meade K. Bates will address young people of six Mansfield churches at the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening at the first meeting of the newly organized Christian Youth Forum, an interdenominational group.

Chief Bates will speak on "Crime in Mansfield" and will lead a discussion on the topic the first in a series of weekly discussions concerning personal and social problems of the city.

Program Precedes Talk.

A fellowship program at 6 p. m. will precede the talk. The worship service will be held in the auditorium at 6:40 p. m. Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will speak on the subject, "Life Has Loveliness to Sell." This will be followed at 7 p. m. by the discussion group.

Leonard Malone is in charge of arrangements for the program Sunday night and Charles Atwell is chairman of the forum committee. Future talks in the series will be given by local physicians, businessmen, and ministers. They will also be available for private conferences at 7 p. m. Wednesdays.

Churches co-operating in the forum are the First Congregational, First Methodist Episcopal, Park Avenue Baptist, First Christian, First United Presbyterian, and the First Presbyterian.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CAMPAIGN OPENS

Voluntary Pledges for 1938 Will Be Sought Beginning Sunday.

A campaign to obtain voluntary pledges for the First Christian church for 1938 will get underway Sunday morning.

During the campaign, a battery of 187 "red traffic lights," representing the 1938 budget, will face the congregation. The plan is to obtain voluntary pledges which will turn the lights green.

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, the pastor, will preach on the subject, "The Stewardship of Life." The choir under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Clingan will sing a Netherland folk song, "Prayer of Thanksgiving." The service begins at 10:30.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1937.

Drive carefully tomorrow—this is the time of year when reckless drivers land in the hospital or morgue.

All men may be created equal—but most of them escape newspaper mention when they have a tooth pulled.

Byrd, of Virginia, contends that the federal government should spend less than it takes in—some folks have such odd ideas!

Season for Greater Care.

COMING into the season when Ohio climate practically assures frequency of snow and ice on streets and highways, all motorists should keep constantly in mind that driving will be exceptionally dangerous for the next several months.

It is generally realized that winter travel should be slower than in other seasons, and that a thin coating of ice on grades such as are found in and around Mansfield can make cars unmanageable, except when slowly and carefully driven.

Those "slippery when wet" signs seen along the highways should also be carefully heeded at this season, when a cold rain is likely to result in an icy pavement.

It would be well for pedestrians, too, to exercise more than ordinary care in crossing streets covered with snow or ice, as occasionally even the most careful drivers are unable to bring their car to a stop as quickly as when streets are dry.

Youth Forum Gets Under Way.

LEST a too-pessimistic attitude be engendered by recent emphasis on juvenile delinquency, youthful criminality and what appears to be a lowering of moral standards, such a movement as the Youth Forum, just getting under way in Mansfield, should not be overlooked—nor its importance minimized.

Conceived and sponsored by young people of a half dozen Mansfield churches, this activity will not only provide opportunity for expression of the youth viewpoint toward current problems but will also serve to broaden their scope of information and understanding in matters that will become increasingly important as they advance in years and responsibilities.

Fortunately, Mansfield has a considerable number of young men and women who have already evidenced qualifications for leadership in activities intended for community betterment, and the comprehensive program planned for meetings of the Youth Forum should enlist the interested co-operation of many hundreds of young people.

Starting the Youth Forum, a fellowship meeting will be held at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock, followed by a forum meeting at 7 o'clock, with the subject, "Youth in Relationship to the Community," at which the speaker will be Meade K. Bates, chief of police of Mansfield.

The potentialities of a community activity along these lines can scarcely be overestimated.

Old-Age Pension Paid Back.

QUITE unlike the stories of relief chiselers, and those who regard it as their "right" to be permanently sustained by public funds, the Lorain county case in which $498 was paid back into the old-age pension fund by an adopted daughter of the beneficiaries, provides a heartening incident.

The story is told by H. J. Berrodin, chief of the state division of aid for the aged, and it indicates that at least some people realize that old-age pensions are intended only for those unfortunates who have no other means of support and who have not been wastrels during their productive years.

Not long ago, in an arraignment of Ohio's present old-age pension law, Mr. Berrodin charged that instead of providing for the worthy aged of the state, the statute was affording financial assistance to those who "drank and gambled away their money and never contributed anything to society."

It was originally intended by pioneering proponents of the old-age pension proposal, that it would help the deserving aged who had led clean moral lives, but, due to sickness, unemployment, poor investments, or rearing large families, found themselves without funds and with no earning power.

"I contend," said Mr. Berrodin, "that our country owes these deserving people a debt for having assisted in the creation of the wealth of the state and nation . . . Now we find that shiftless, thriftless aged persons, who gambled and drank away their money . . . are recommended for immediate attention because they are down and out."

As was said by Mr. Berrodin, "much yet remains to be done" in the aid for aged program.

Labor's Safety Valve.

AMERICAN and English institutions are so much alike that it is natural to make comparisons. Roger Babson, after studying the labor situation abroad, makes some interesting comments

British labor is now pretty well organized, embracing one-half of all male industrial workers. In the United States only one-fourth are organized. Unionism is now taken as a matter of course over there, by capital and labor alike. But he finds the present attitude of labor surprising. With success they seem to have lost interest. He saw labor leaders trying to stage a "demonstration" and failing. They got very small audiences.

A labor leader explained it thus: "Some years ago, when labor was fighting for recognition, this hall would be many times overflowed when I called a meeting. Now, when everyone is a member of some labor union, and when collective bargaining is universal, the wage workers have lost interest in union activities."

British industrialists told him. Mr. Babson says, that they believe American employers are foolish to fight labor in its attempts to organize and bargain, because "a boiler explodes only when the safety valve is tied down."

An anthropologist contends that in a hundred years the blond type will be extinct in America—dark days ahead.

"Man wants but little here below"—and generally gets it.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

MEMORIES of the news rooms: The new reporter with "New York experience" and a Greek letter class pin. Making out the payroll for state correspondence and hiking the ante for the fellow in your home town. Abe's three-cent lunch room across the alley. Phil's Place on the corner.

Trembly old Mr. Skeggs, who wore a skull cap and sat in a far-away corner clipping "time copy" from exchanges. Once a foreign correspondent for the New York Herald. Elmer Farr, who traveled with the ball club and carried binoculars over his shoulders to the races.

Asking for a raise as telegraph editor and being promoted to assistant managing editor instead—realizing a few days later the only change was in title. The press association telegraph operator who never failed to show up, no matter how terrific the hangover.

The annual arrival of Dex Fellowes with plenty of free circus tickets—even a pair for your barber and bartender. Andy, the crack stereotyper, who could not read nor write. Jake Orft, the composing room foreman, who could cuss a blue streak and did several times daily.

The all night election vigil and the publisher treating everybody to sandwiches and coffee at dawn. Calming the rough guy who came in roaring to lick the editor. Miss Tessie Blotz, who wrote the sob sister stuff under the pseudonym Millicent D'Orsay. Eddie Knapp, the dressy photo-engraver, in love with Irene, the chief telephone operator. Veteran copy readers who ticked off their headline letters in finger taps on the desk top. The sacred cow—unmentionable incidents and persons—that cost a job to mention.

The copy boy who tipped us off every morning when the managing editor swung from his trolley car at the corner—and the sudden furious activity as he walked to his desk. The dramatic editor who came to work at 9 o'clock—and the advance men who often brought their stars to see him. Algy, the music editor, who arrived one morning after a week of Fall Festival reporting and twittered: "Fellows, I'm actually drunk with rhythm."

The chief editorial writer who spoke to few of us, wore eye-glasses with a dangling black ribbon and lived at the Civic Club. The literary editor who was the luckiest crap shooter on the staff. Mrs. Wickham, the fussy wife of the publisher, who came in every few months or so to raise Hall Columbia with important executives. The gang on the Lobster Trick that we never saw save at press club banquets.

Members of the staff who went to Park Row, where we all longed to go—and seemed invariably to make good. City idols for those of us in the out country news rooms: Richard Harding Davis and Frank Ward O'Malley. The occasional whiz who would be assistant police court reporter for a few days and then show up in the managing editor's chair. Then somehow would vanish just as quickly. The bleating type of city editor who pounded his desk and bellowed at cubs and who generally got what was coming to him in the end—the gate and oblivion.

The fear of the Blue Envelope as we neared 40. Going to the offices direct from some bar after a night of wassail—and somehow getting through the day. Landing a scoop in the days when a scoop was noticed without calling attention to it. The excitement over the first offer of a New York job—and the terrific let-down when you decided to stay on awhile for more experience.

The first assignment on an out-of-town murder story. Passing the police lines with a press card in the hat band. Calling the police chief by his first name and going into the mayor's private office unannounced. Getting the first by-line on a Page One story. The proof-readers who covered up our mistakes and often saved our jobs—and their quiet Mr. Chips attitude toward life. The ribald stories that were told in the art room. And the new office boy that was sent to the composing room for a "bucket of editorials" and came back with a back-breaking load of linotype slugs. The sinking feeling when the editor-in-chief's secretary came to tell you he wanted to see you in his office. And it generally meant what you thought—the old ball and chain'

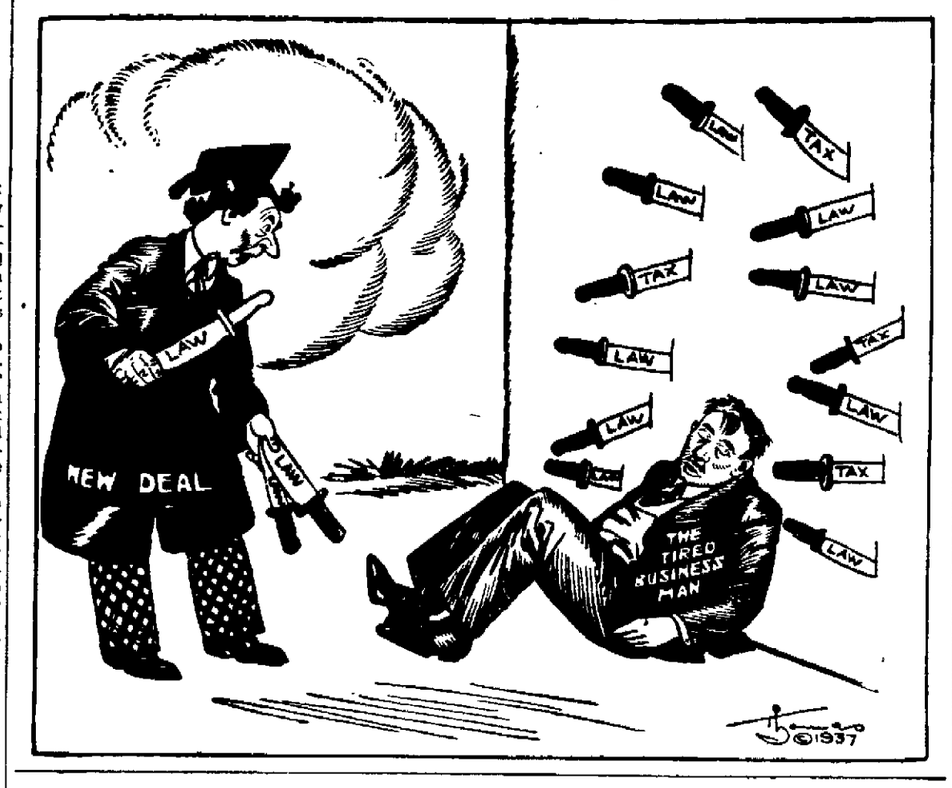
HE NEEDS REST



Conciliatory Message Disappointing To Labor

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Keen disappointment was felt by some of labor's supporters in congress that the president did not say in his message to the special session that while steps must be taken to offset the recession, the gains made for labor in the past five years should not be sacrificed.

The Wagner labor relations act already has been under fire by industrial groups and segments of labor. The American Federation of Labor at its recent Denver convention proposed amending the act to gain increased recognition of old-line craft unions. The A. F. of L. has contended that the performance of the labor board has always leaned toward the CIO headed by John L. Lewis.

Framers of the bill have argued such revision would invite tinkering which might weaken it.

* * *

Soft Words For Business

INDUSTRIAL groups have demanded for employers the same right of appeal to the board as is now enjoyed only by labor. Labor's answer is that industrial groups already have, or practice, all the privileges granted labor in the Wagner act and that revision to give employers equal rights of appeal to the board would nullify its value to labor.

Already amendments proposing revisions have been introduced in congress.

The president's message was so conciliatory toward business that it appeared to some to indicate a decisive swing to the right. Not in his five years has he used such soft words as were contained in the message to persuade business to come forward now and pull the country back from the brink of another depression.

It was those words which excited some of his labor-minded followers in congress to fear he would sacrifice overmuch of labor's gains to get the wheels of business rolling faster.

When's War War?

THE new session will hear a thorough-going debate over the way the state department has played its hand in the Chinese-Japanese conflict. Senator Nye blew in from the steppes of North Dakota hoping someone would introduce a resolution declaring that a state of war existed between Japan and China. So far, the president has refused to do this, with the result that the neutrality act has never been put into effect.

Senator Nye believes the president has been frightfully remiss in this respect but he was not prepared to put in the resolution himself until he had consulted some of his neutrality-minded pals.

In the 90 days since congress adjourned last August, Nye has delivered 57 speeches of indignation over the president's failure to invoke the neutrality act embargo on the war in China. That is about one speech every 40 hours—a fair gait.

Just what might happen if congress should pass a resolution recognizing a state of war in the orient presents exciting possibilities. The constitution gives the president the tenor role in the opera of international affairs. For congress to take the initiative would be as novel as having a spearman in a Wagnerian opera throw down his gear, shove the leather-jerkined Siegfried aside and begin to sing his role. Would such a resolution bring the arms embargo into operation despite the president.

Passage of such a resolution might put the president to the necessity of appealing to the supreme court for protection of his own constitutional rights. That, too, would be interesting.

Listen, World!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON—

Don't Have a Yes-Friend!

THE worst thing that can possibly happen to you is to have a yes-friend . . . someone who always agrees with what you think, praises what you do and excuses any possible slip.

Yes, I know they're comforting—
So's booze—
Or hop.

But, in the end, they are equally demoralizing—and for the same reason.

THEY SHIELD YOU FROM REALITY—
AND PREPARE YOU FOR AN AWFUL PAY-OFF

Any yes-friendship is based on lies. For you know—unless you're an absolute egotist or an incurable idiot—that no one's conduct is wholly admirable or excusable. We all are cruel and contemptible, cheap and cowardly, at times. We all do things for which we should be thoroughly ashamed. And no yes-friend should tell us otherwise.

Then why do they?

For a lot of reasons—and none of them worthy.

Yes-friends may be delightful to look at and lovely to listen to—but they actually belong in our most vicious class of parasites. In order to serve their own ends, they prey upon human vanity and drain human self-respect as banefully as any tick or louse.

And their evil effects are manifold. Not only do they inflate our vanity . . . make smug show-offs and complacent cry-babies out of us—

But they pamper our most contemptible weaknesses. Regular people force us to make the grade by their spoken or unspoken criticism . . . their wholesome challenge. But yes-friends are admiring worms. We do not have to exert ourselves to meet their measure, nor struggle to win their admiration.

Regardless of our record, they are right there with the good old fan chorus. Worse yet, we can condescend to them . . . work off our meanness on them . . . do things to them for which we would be promptly slapped down by Grade A Folk.

Why are brilliant and capable people so often surrounded by human trash? That's why. They make life easy. They soothe that sense of inferiority which nags even the greatest. And, in evil moments, they gratify that secret urge to kick-someone-around.

Nothing so reveals a strong person's inner weakness as the parasites he permits to surround him. And never is this as tragically evident as in marriage.

Why did that fine, intelligent fellow, Dan Rogers, marry his stupid, vicious little cat of a wife? Why did big-hearted, sensible Rose Adams—so wholesome and lovable—give herself to that contemptible, scheming little loafer?

Their friends excuse it by saying that both Dan and Rose are so fine "they didn't know what they were getting into." And Dan and Rose, in their kindly souls, honestly believe they did it out of pitying tenderness for weaker creatures. But they are fooling themselves—

They did it because, despite their own greatness, they were flattered by the other's weakness . . . sold themselves out for the old "uplift" come-on, which has wrecked more fine lives than all the wars and epidemics put together.

Don't have a yes-friend. Don't tolerate one on your premises. If you must ruin yourself, do it in some honest, open way—by bullet, rat poison, or hangman's noose . . .

But DON'T swap your backbone for a bunch of sweet kisses!

Cleaning Up the Bar.

There is no room in the legal profession for attorneys who actually aid criminals or who seek to afford asylum or illegal comfort for those who engage in crime. Every attorney has the unquestioned right to defend an accused person, but no right to go out of his way to abet crime or protect the known guilty.

The appellate court in New York has disbarred J. Richard Davis, "mouthpiece" for the late Dutch Schultz, and the decision to deprive him of his right to practice law was accompanied by a stinging rebuke on his conduct. The decision declared such a lawyer as Davis was found by the court to have been, in effect, a member of a criminal organization, Davis has been a fugitive from justice since his indictment on the charge of being the brains of the policy racket since the death of Schultz.

In cleaning up criminal messes the authorities do well to catch up the hangers-on, the advisers and the aids of the racketeers, whether or not actual membership and real criminality are to be found. —Ohio State Journal.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

JUSTICE FOR EXPLOITERS: Hear this, O ye that swallow up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail, saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that they may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balance by deceit.—Amos 8:4, 5.

What One Man Thinks

—By DAVID GIBSON

Success, with some of us, is in being what we pretend to be.

Everything is all right so long as the sun is shining.—Paul Verlaine.

When we want a friend or neighbor to read something that we have read and enjoyed, it is the hospitality of our inner selves.

In acts of revenge, a sore head is more destructive than a wise head is constructive—the sore head always exerts more energy.

A law to control wages and hours is futile without the control of rent and commodity prices—it is all a question of the purchasing power of wages.

More evidence against the human race: Published picture of fully attired young woman seated in a bath tub in the former Baltimore home of the Duchess of Windsor.

Bingo.

NEIGHBORHOOD moving picture theater operators, particularly in the larger cities of Ohio, are complaining of a falling off in attendance.

They attribute it to Bingo games held for the most part in neighborhood churches and fraternal organization halls, the receipts or rakeoff going for religious and benevolent purposes.

Bingo is even competing with Bank-nights.

The gambling spirit seems to be rampant—both among the high and low income class.

The spirit may come from down up—I don't know.

Most of us will spend and risk much on the chance of getting something for nothing.

Personally, I have never become excited or the least interested in any form of speculative enterprise—I have too long been an observer on the side lines of speculation, without being a participant. I know that the something-for-nothing dream is never realized.

Books.

DURING this holiday season there will be more fine, single-volume books in retail stores and at a lower price than ever before.

This is a distant echo or reaction from the past seven-year general depression.

During the slump many wholesale book salesmen were taken off the road and were without employment.

The more enterprising of these bought the "left-overs" from art book publishers, books that originally sold for $5, $10 and $15, stocked them in retail stores, which in turn offered them to customers at greatly reduced prices.

They sold so rapidly that these wholesale salesmen have since purchased or rented the plates of the original publishers and have brought out even larger than the initial editions.

They include history, biography, reproductions of master paintings, nature works—animal, bird, insect and plant life, all profusely illustrated and often in full and true colors.

The Building Industry.

A FEW WEEKS ago in this department, I printed an editorial, "Building Costs," wherein I brought out the fact that building standard had increased more than the cost of building; that too many people were deterred from building by comparing, or rather confusing present prices with those of lower standards in construction practices or, say, a generation ago.

This editorial seems to have attracted some attention; it was read before several gatherings of builders and material people and has been reprinted in their trade publications.

It was an unusual point of view, and I think, a true one.

For instance, in the hotel room where this is being written: There are four pilasters and in the corners of these are invisible protecting strips of steel so that the plaster can not be knocked off the edges.

These steel strips cost money, add to the cost of building. They were not known a generation ago, but they are economical; for this room will not have to be re-plastered in part when it is re-decorated.

Take a modern six or eight room dwelling house: The owner would have some difficulty selling it if it did not have copper-wire fly screens—none but iron or steel were known a generation ago.

BUT, there is more the matter with the building industry than a wrong comparison of high building standards of today and low prices of a generation ago.

It is mostly a matter of law, some of which dates back to Old Rome.

In the first place, an owner has to pay too much for a site on which to put a building—money that should go into the building itself.

Then, a building owner is "fined" (taxed) for putting up a building—"committing" improvements.

As I have said before, a man guilty of a misdemeanor is fined once for it, but if he puts up a building, why, he is "fined" (taxed) every year that building continues to exist.

The result is that a landlord can hold a lot for years for pure speculative purposes and pay the low tax upon it from a sign board or the rental from a superannuated shack.

The store room at the northwest corner of Euclid avenue and E. 6th street, Cleveland, 15 by 20 feet, in a two-story building erected in 1882, rents for $21,000 a year. Thirty-three years ago the same store room rented for $3,800 a year.

Several years ago the owner of another valuable Cleveland site, the southwest corner, Euclid avenue and E. 4th street, paid $11,000 in architects' and estimators' fees to find that it would be more profitable to rent the first floor of the present cast-iron front structure, erected in 1874, to a dime store; that the additional income from a proposed 14-story building would be eaten up in taxes—a yearly "fine" for committing" improvements.

All this is going on in great cities the world over and is the result of land and tax laws that date back to Old Rome—still more evidence that the human race is not worth saving.

In the second place, there is the present so-called Mechanic's Lien Law in Ohio. This was originally passed about 50 years ago, as in most states, to protect the wages of building mechanics, but was gradually extended as a vehicle to carry the claims of material and supply dealers against a building owner.

As a result, the dishonest, incompetent contractor—the jerry builder—has a credit for labor and material equal to that of the honest, competent, conscientious builder, many of whom have gone to the poor house by being put in competition with jerry builders, and under the law.

This lien law is so complicated and costly in its consequences that too many have become fearful of doing any building.

A man of my acquaintance contracted for a new roof on his building for the sum of $600. The contractor sub-let the work to a second contractor who actually did the job. The first contractor collected the money, skipped out and without paying the sub-contractor—the building owner paid twice.

The building contractor should be on the same basis of credit in the matter of labor and material as any manufacturer; then none save the honorable and responsible could operate.
